

Italy, France Clear Way for Talks on Pact

Won't Wait for Appointment of Envoy
To Rome
MAY INCLUDE U. S.
Report Mussolini Eager To Act Before Hitler Visit

Paris—(AP)—Italy and France decided today to undertake friendship talks without waiting for appointment of an ambassador to Rome,
and a source close to the French foreign office said the question of extending "international cooperation" to include the United States and Britain would be studied.

Inclusion of the United States would be discussed during the visit April 29 of Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet to London, it was said.

Though no specific questions were placed on the agenda it was indicated the entire scope of diplomatically, financial and economic collaboration would be considered.

Begin Immediately
Jules Blondel, French charge d'affaires in Rome, consulted with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo
today and it was agreed to begin conversations for a general settlement of problems between the two countries immediately.

The possibility of an appointment of an ambassador to Rome might be announced shortly before the league council meeting May 9 was given credence in authoritative circles.

Italian readiness to negotiate at once was coupled with concessions in the Anglo-Italian friendship protocol signed Saturday, and led to the growing belief in Paris that Premier Mussolini was displeased with the way the Berlin-Rome-Tokio triangle has been working.

Diplomatic sources here saw it duce working eagerly with Premier Edouard Daladier to put Franco-Italian relations on a friendly footing before Reichsfuehrer Hitler's state visit to Rome next month.

Fully Qualified
It duce was understood to have accepted the French position that Blondel was fully qualified to negotiate a pact and that appointment of an ambassador as the first step would be unnecessary.

France has not had an ambassador in Rome for more than two years because she refused to credit an envoy to King Vittorio Emanuele as emperor of Ethiopia.

With talks progressing through the charge d'affaires, the recognition question thus would be side-stepped until a general settlement was negotiated.

Return to Jobs
As France's "national defense" government established a formula for social peace at home, striking metal workers began returning to their jobs, at the order of their unions.

The cabinet meets tomorrow
to approve a foreign policy and a draft of decree laws designed to strenghten
the nation financially.

On the surface, at least, the international situation had changed considerably for Italy and her allies in the anti-communist pact in the last month. Sources close to the government pointed out Japan was meeting with reverses in China, and held also that the Rome-Berlin friendship was somewhat strained.

The last observation may have been a case of the wish being father to the thought.

SEEK NEW ACCORD
Rome—(AP)—Italy and France agreed today to begin conversations immediately to re-establish their traditional friendship, shattered by the Ethiopian war.

Italy's readiness to bury the hatchet was expressed to Jules Blondel, French charge d'affaires,
by foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, officials revealed.

Blondel on Saturday asked Count Ciano if Italy were prepared to open negotiations, and the affirmative answer was handed to him today when he called at the foreign office.

France took the initiative, informed quarters said, because of a desire to have something concrete underway before Britain pressed her to support the British resolution at Geneva next month to clear the way for recognition of Italy's new empire in Africa.

Otherwise, it was said, France's principal bargaining ace would be played without receiving anything in return.

Aran District Capital Falls To Insurgents

Government Troops Surrender Viella Without Battle

MUTINY REPORTED
Large Detachments of Loyalists Captured South Of Tortosa

Perpignan, France, at the Spanish border—(AP)—Spanish government troops in the Aran valley just below the French border today surrendered to the advancing insurgents, handing over Viella, capital of the Aran district, without a battle.

Reports reaching the border said
1,000 government militiamen laid down their arms in the Aran valley, which is west of Andorra and some 120 miles northwest of Barcelona. The insurgents there from the extreme left wing of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's drive through northeastern Spain.

It was estimated 700 more militi-men remained in the valley. Twelve officers of the government commander's staff escaped before the surrender. The commander, Colonel Emilio Gomez Garcia de Guarnier, and 300 militiamen escaped
across the border yesterday.

No confirmation was obtained of travelers' reports of mutiny among government troops in Barcelona.

They said part of the newly mobilized troops quartered in the Barcelona seminary and Barcelona and Vergara barracks had refused to go to the front.

Nearly 800 officers and soldiers were occupying several buildings under machine gun fire from loyal troops, it was said.

With the Insurgents Before Tortosa—(AP)—Large detachments of government troops, including international brigade units, were captured south of Tortosa today after Ebro river bridges were dynamited by the government to hold back the insurgent movement to encircle
the strategic south Catalan city.

General Garcia Valino's Navarrese legionnaires occupied the suburbs of Tortosa and the right bank of the Ebro; then started to cut off
the city proper, where the government massed thousands of its best shock troops.

Insurgent officers said international troops formed the backbone of the government defense and that the Catalonians themselves offered little resistance to the insurgent drive toward Barcelona, 95 miles to the northwest.

Three Nations May Be Designated as Treaty Violators

Washington—(AP)—State department officials said today Secretary Hull would designate Japan, Germany and Italy as treaty violating nations if the administration should be requested by congressional resolution to name treaty breaking powers.

Representative Scott (D-Calif.) introduced a resolution, now under consideration by the house foreign affairs committee, calling upon the president to say what nations, if any, have in recent years violated treaties to which this country is a party. His move, he said, was preliminary to advocating a boycott of the aggressor states.

Officials said it would simply refer to the fact that Secretary Hull has already mentioned Japan, Germany and Italy, directly or indirectly, as treaty violators.

Treasury Action Stops 'Inactive Gold' Program

Morgenthau Denies He Is Abandoning Sterilization Principle

Washington—(AP)—The treasury abolished today the "inactive gold fund" created Dec. 24, 1936, to stem inflation effect of huge imports of foreign gold.

The fund already was empty because President Roosevelt last week ordered the $1,182,000,000 worth of gold in the "sterile" account used for currency to help pay the cost of his new spending program and to expand the supply of bank credit available to business.

Secretary Morgenthau explained
the treasury was abandoning any commitment to sterilize gold, but specifically denied he was abandoning the principle of sterilization—the process of segregating gold and paying for it with borrowed money which prevents the influx of metal from adding to bank funds.

The treasury said, if the need arises, Morgenthau added, sterilize gold imports by storing them in the treasury's general fund or in its $2, 000,000,000 stabilization fund. At first the treasury sterilized all incoming gold, and this year proposed to sterilize any gold acquired in excess of $100,000,000 per quarter year. Both these schedules have been withdrawn.

To the extent that incoming gold is not sterilized, it will swell the lendable funds of the banks but will not affect treasury finances because the metal would be paid for with currency issued upon the gold.
Last year, the gold inflow got as high as $60,000,000 a week, but except for $53,000,000 a week, the total recently has been only a few millions per week. In the first three months of the year, the treasury's gold purchases totaled $100,000,000.

Involves Dane County Road Heads in Trial
Madison—(AP)—The Dane county highway department came under scrutiny today at the trial of Lawrence W. Hull, truck salesman, charged with obtaining money from the county under false pretenses.

The department has been under fire at recent county board sessions.

A jury of eight men, and four women was chosen in circuit court yesterday to hear charges that Hull obtained $112,500, though alleged falsification of time sheets on truck rental contracts.

Attorney William J. McCauley, of Milwaukee, defense counsel, said
he would show that on two occasions the county paid Hull more money than he claimed was due him.

Rap Proposal For 950 Added Naval Planes

Foes of Expansion Bill Contend Present Force Is Adequate

PASSAGE EXPECTED
Senate Opponents Say Land Planes More Effective for Defense

Washington—(AP)—Senate opponents of the $1,156,000,000 naval expansion bill attempted today to kill an authorization for 950 additional navy airplanes.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the senate naval committee, starting debate on the floor, expressed confidence, however, of overwhelming approval.

Senator Nye (R-N. D.), one of the principal foes, contended that the navy's present 2,050 planes are sufficient and that land-based aircraft are more effective for defense purposes.

"If new airplanes are built, they should be constructed for the army which has an airforce to guard our coasts and naval bases," Nye declared.

Against Increase
A proposed minority report from the naval committee cited testimony by Major General O. Wester, chief of the army air corps,
that an increase in naval aircraft would "seriously disturb the existing distribution of the nation's aerial resources."

Senator Bone (D-Wash.), a member of the committee, said he was preparing some "observations" on the financial outlay. The senate committee increased the authorization $35,000,000 above the $1,121, 000,000 approved by the house.

Bone asserted that sufficient construction would be possible under the present Vinson-Trammell act to bring the navy up to defense requirements.

Calling the bill a proposal for a "blueprint navy," Senator Copeland (D-N. Y.) said he was including to support the measure. He said he did not believe the program would be carried out in full.

Construction Authorized
As approved by the senate committee, the bill authorizes construction of 46 warships, including three 45,000-ton battleships, two 20,000-ton aircraft carriers, nine cruisers, 23 destroyers and nine submarines.

It also would provide for 26 auxiliary vessels and 950 airplanes, as well as authorizing expenditure of $8,000,000 on navy yard equipment and $15,000,000 for experiments on small, fast harbor defense boats.

Aside from legislation to carry out the administration's new recovery and relief program, the navy expansion bill is the last major measure certain of consideration
this session.

Names Davis as Member Of TVA Probing Group
Washington—(AP)—Vice President
Garner named Senator Davis (R-Pa.) today as a member of the joint congressional committee to investigate the Tennessee Valley authority.

If Davis accepts, the appointment will complete the personnel of the ten-member committee. The resolution providing for the appointment of five members from each chamber. Garner has had difficulty naming the five senate members because three Republicans—Capper of Kansas, Borah of Idaho and McNary of Oregon—have declined to serve.

Davis was traveling in Pennsylvania today, and it could not be learned at once whether he would accept.

201 Million Road Appropriation has Approval of House

Joint Committee
On Revenue Bills
Votes for Recess

'We are Making Absolutely No Progress,' Harrison States

Washington—(AP)—The joint conference committee seeking to adjust differences between the senate and house revenue bills recessed today until Friday, still deadlocked.

The committee started its sessions last week, but has taken no action to compromise major differences between the senate and house tax revision measures.

At a closed session today, the conference group heard Chairman William O. Douglas of the securities commission discuss a provision of the senate measure exempting from the capital gains tax utility holding companies which simplify their corporate structures in conformity with the utility holding company act. The conference group reached no decision, however, on whether this provision should be included in its compromise.

"Absolutely No Progress"
"We are making absolutely no progress," Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the senate finance committee told reporters when the meeting recessed. "We just decided that since we were getting nowhere we might as well quit until Friday."

The senate tax bill approved elimination of capital gains levies on sale of a holding company's securities from one utility to another in conformance with the holding company act.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the senate finance committee said this exemption would encourage compliance with the law and would free millions of dollars of utilities' capital for investment and expansion.

The Mississippi said this angle did not indicate progress on major points of difference. These are the capital gains tax which the senate placed on a flat rate basis compared with a graduated house scale,
and the undistributed profits tax which the house had modified and the senate completely eliminated.

House conferees won support for their versions in President Roosevelt's recent letter to Harrison.
Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the house group has refused a suggestion by Harrison to resubmit
these points to the house and senate.

Mexico Pushing
Oil Deals Abroad
British Promoter and New York Broker Named As Buyers

Mexico City—(AP)—Mexico, whose oil exports in the first month of government control of the industry were about 250,000 barrels as against 2,000,000 barrels a year ago,
is ready to conclude the first important sale to foreign buyers.

Reliable sources said today a contract had been prepared for 3-600,000 barrels of oil to cost $2-800,000, and that it would be taken up by Francis M. McKett, British promoter, and Bernard E. Smith,
New York broker.

Officials of two of the companies, which President Cardenas put under government management by expropriation on March 18, said they understood letters of credit already had been arranged.

The chief problem to be solved,
it was thought here, was whether tankers could be obtained to effect shipment.

Because of lack of foreign markets since expropriation was effected, oil production has been curtailed sharply. All storage tanks are filled.

The 250,000 barrels exported in the past four weeks came from wells the government already owned and on existing contracts.

Young Wins 41 Pct. of
C. and O. Common Stock
Richmond, Va.—(AP)—Forty-one per cent of the common stock of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway valued the support today of the C.
and O. management which Robert R. Young is fighting to maintain in office.

The management had solicited proxies for the common stock to be counted at the regular stockholders meeting today, and the official canvassers announced 41.68 per cent had responded to the solicitation.

Stock not held by the public is owned 30.8 per cent by the Chesapeake corporation, and 3.3 per cent
by the Allegheny corporation, parent holding company of the Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance; and Attorney Daniel H. Grady, of Portage.

Convention headquarters said
there was a large registration but did not give an estimate of the attendance.

OBJECT OF SEARCH
Andrew Carnegie Whitfield (above), 28-year-old nephew of the late Andrew Carnegie, steel magnate, was unreported for three days
after he took off from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., on a 20-mile flight.

Police Airplane Hunts Nephew of Andrew Carnegie

Officials Think Whitfield
Plane or Wreckage
May be Found

New York—(AP)—A police airplane searched today along 250 miles of Long Island shoreline for Andrew Carnegie Whitfield, (above), handsome young nephew of Andrew Carnegie, and the silver and red monoplane in which he vanished last Friday.

The aerial search started from Roosevelt field, where the missing flier was last seen and where he supposedly took off for Brentwood, N. Y., 20 miles away—an airport he never reached.

On the chance Whitfield's plane or its wreckage might be found in the Long Island surf, the Nassau county plane with three officers aboard equipped with maps set out to comb the south shore line to Montauk point, returning along the north shore.

Whitfield's bride, in seclusion at the home of her socially prominent parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H.
Halsey, was reported near prostration.

Failure to discover any trace of the plane despite a painstaking search of Long Island and adjacent ocean waters led puzzled police to conclude that Whitfield was still alive.

A possibility faded that Whitfield might have sailed with Frank Steinman, another aviator, for Europe on the Red Star liner Westernland last Saturday as an unlisted passenger.
The captain of the liner wirelessly stated that a search had failed to disclose Whitfield aboard.

Oshkosh Pastor New Winneshago Moderator
Stevens Point—(AP)—The Rev.
James A. Damm of Oshkosh was elected moderator of the Presbytery of Winneshago, for a one-year term this morning at the opening session of the spring meeting of the presbytery here.

The Rev. E. W. Griffith of Winneconne was elected temporary clerk. The state clerk and treasurer of the presbytery is the Rev.
Charles T. Damp of Fond du Lac and the permanent clerk is the Rev. Ernest L. Hoover of Edgar.

The Rev. L. C. Smith of Kimberly and J. N. Parkinson of Green Bay, whose terms were expiring as trustees, were reelected. The election of third trustee was deferred to a committee for recommendation.

County Boards Group
Opens 3-Day Conclave
Portage, Wis.—(AP)—The three-day
annual convention of the Wisconsin County Boards association started this afternoon with an address of welcome by Mayor William L.
Mohr of Portage.

Among the principal speakers on the program are Governor Philip F. La Follette, Martin W. Torkelson, state director of regional planning; Paul Reynolds, of Madison, executive director of the Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance; and Attorney Daniel H. Grady, of Portage.

Convention headquarters said
there was a large registration but
did not give an estimate of the attendance.

Action More Than Dou- bles Fund Pro- vided in Bill

CCC PLAN ACCEPTED
Senate Completes Final Action on Money
For Camps

Washington—(AP)—The house, accepting one of President Roosevelt's recovery suggestions, decided today to more than double the $100,000,000 highway appropriation in the agriculture supply bill.

A few minutes earlier, the senate completed final congressional action on another phase of the president's pump-priming plan, approving a $50,000,000 increase in the appropriation for CCC camps for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Opposition appeared, however,
to another phase of his program.
Senator Glass (D-Va.) charged that the administration's proposed revival of public works duplicated
a program which is possible under authority recently given the Reconstruction Finance corporation.
Fund Now $201,500,000

The road fund, trimmed to $100-000,000 as a budget balancing aid suggested by the president, was increased to $201,500,000 by the house. Mr. Roosevelt rescinded his budget balancing request in his recovery message.

The agriculture supply bill,
which included the expanded road fund, was approved by the house and sent to the senate.

The bill's total was $33,323,316
in excess of the sum appropriated for the current fiscal year and $95-867,602 above the amount recommended by the budget bureau.
Budget estimates were prepared before Mr. Roosevelt recommended a larger expenditure on roads.

Glass, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, said he would support President Roosevelt's recommendation for $125,000,000
for relief, but would not vote for a $1,000,000,000 fund to provide public works loans and grants to cities and states.

The newly-enacted RFC lending bill, which Glass sponsored, authorizes that agency to make public works loans to state and municipal governments. The same status also assigns the agency "blank check"
powers in making loans to business.
As far as is publicly known, however, only business loans have been considered.

Keen Rivalry
When he introduced the bill, Glass said, he believed it would
"take care of public works."
"Otherwise, it would never have introduced it," he added.

Some legislators interpreted the situation as evidencing a keen rivalry between the RFC and the public works administration for control of the big new lending program.
Glass was understood to have favored RFC control because of the known conservatism of Chairman Jesse H. Jones.

Jones discussed the general recovery program in a radio speech last night.

"We must have confidence in our country and confidence in our government, and if we demonstrate that confidence by action, better business will follow.

Unprecedented Abundance
"So much has been said about fear that we have all become imbued with the idea that something is wrong with the country, when, as a matter of fact, we have never had a greater abundance of everything needed for a really high standard of living than we have now."

Explaining the operation of the new RFC lending program, Jones said his board would not feel authorized to make loans unless it appeared the borrower would be able to pay back the money.

"Too much debt and inflation of values were the principal causes of the depression."

Ickes Cautious on Sale of Helium Gas in Germany

Washington—(AP)—Secretary Ickes said today he was not satisfied yet that a pending contract for the sale of helium gas to the German Zeppelin company afforded "proper protection" against use of the gas for foreign military purposes.

Ickes discussed the proposed helium sale to Germany with President Roosevelt, and said, as he left the White House, that the president had not given him any opinion about the contract.

"There are legal and practical questions that have to be resolved before I can express them in a contract," Ickes said.

The state department, he explained, had approved the proposed sale and had favored "a bond," without naming an amount to be furnished by the Zeppelin company, as a guarantee that the non-inflammable gas sold from Ameri-

New Jap Troops Arrive in South Shantung Region

6,000 Men Fight Way Overland in Spite of Chinese Attacks

Shanghai—(AP)—As a prelude to a new offensive in south Shantung province where they have met with severe reverses, 6,000 Japanese reinforcements have arrived on the Yi river, four miles from Lini. They fought their way overland, despite constant Chinese harassment, from Tsin-tai, Shantung port 130 miles away, airline distance. Lini, 80 miles northeast of Suchow rapidly was becoming the center of a battle which military experts said might develop into a major engagement of the nine-month-old undeclared war.

Another Japanese column was reported sweeping to the southeast of Lini.

Jap Troops Arrive

Chinese troops said five fresh Japanese divisions had arrived in Shantung from Japan and Formosa, while 26 transports were unloading munitions.

Japanese aircraft carriers were reported stationed off the Shantung coast, presumably for a concerted air attack.

On their part, Chinese commanders declared they were ready to pour 1,000,000 soldiers into the battle. Already thousands of reinforcements had thrown up strong entrenchments along the Yi river line.

Better led and equipped than at any time since the conflict started, they were preparing to follow up recent successes in the hope of administering a major check, with Shantung province and a great slice of central China as the stake.

Regain Towns

Meanwhile slashing guerrilla attacks continued upon Japanese garrisons on a dozen fronts, especially in the western province of Shansi where withdrawal of Japanese garrisons to reinforce the Lini drive was costing them many towns and villages previously won by bloody sacrifice.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's commanders reported the recapture of a 20-mile stretch of the Grand Canal between Hanchuan and Talerchuan, scene of the first major defeat administered to a modern Japanese army. Hanchuan, point of the southernmost advance of the Japanese, was retaken.

The thrust along the Yi river front was the third major offensive Japanese have undertaken to cut the important east-west Lung-hai railway reaching from the coast far into the interior.

With the walled town of Lini as their first objective, they were attempting to drive southwestward, down the Yi river to Matowchen, Tancheng and Sinanchen. Sinanchen, 50 miles from Lini, was the nearest point on the Lung-hai.

no's troops and the continued advance southward from Benarua, General Miguel Aranda's Galician forces toward Valencia widened the insurgent-controlled stretch along the Mediterranean coast to 32 miles.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco was moving his heaviest artillery eastward to support concerted offensives against the government capital at Barcelona and the important seaport of Valencia.

Navarrese troops captured Cherta and Aldivo, north of Tortosa.

A large group of international fighters was reported captured in the mountains west of Tortosa, where legionnaires completed a quick encircling movement in the Sierra de Montenegro, the Sierra de Caro and Sierra de Las Razas mountains.

Insurgent tanks and armored cars yesterday drove government defenders from Amposta, at the head of the Ebro river delta, and infantry quickly occupied the town, controlling the river mouth and the south approaches to Tortosa.

Insurgent heavy artillery blasted enemy positions on both sides of the river Ebro, southeast of Tortosa, throwing up a protective barrage today for the continuing advance of General Garcia Valino's division.

Valino's troops occupied the village of Santa Barbara and Masdonverg, nine miles south of Tortosa. From an observation post, I saw the insurgent infantry move against Tortosa and storm the government's fortified position in a cemetery north of Santa Barbara.

Life began to return to normal at Vinaroz and nearby villages under insurgent rule, and old women sat on the doorsteps of their cottages, sewing and watching with wonder the military trucks speeding through the town.

Pretty señoritas, as ever, waved from balconies their greeting to the insurgent troops being rushed to the front to augment the Catalan drive.

Coalition Committees Will Meet Saturday

Milwaukee—(AP)—James A. Kerwin, Milwaukee state chairman of the Milwaukee coalition movement which proposes to combine Democrats and Republicans against the LaFollette-Socialist combine, announced today a meeting of the coalition committees on campaign operations and finances here Saturday.

Lack of funds, halting a program of coalition meetings in each of the 71 counties, gives rise to the meeting, Kerwin said. He said there was no thought of dropping the coalition movement.

BAR ASSOCIATION MEETS

Members of the Outagamie County Bar association held their monthly meeting yesterday noon at Hotel Northern. Usual business was considered following a luncheon.

Royalty Among Chefs Outlines Menu And 10 Rules for "Perfect Dinner"

Chicago—(AP)—When top-ranking chefs get together, here's what they consider the high point of the "perfect dinner"—roast prime ribs of beef, to be eaten with the napkin tucked under the chin.

The menu and 10 strict rules of dining were in readiness today for a dinner at which the Chicago chapter of Les Amis D'Escoffier will pay homage to the "emperor of cooks"—the late Auguste Escoffier of Paris.

The rules, offered by Armand Chevalley, president of the Chicago Association of Chefs of Cuisine, were:

1. Napkins must be tucked under the chin (the "old fashioned European way done when food was food and conviviality high").

2. No smoking until the "eigars with after-dinner coffee."

3. No "shop talk" or discussion of politics and religion.

4. Dinner on time (late arrivals can't start from scratch).

5. No nursing of wines; each must be removed with the course.

6. Anyone who takes "that wee drop too much" leaves the table.

7. No cocktails with hard liquor before dinner.

8. No places of honor; guests sit anywhere.

9. Diners must strive for "witty repartee."

10. No speeches.

And here's what the kitchen prima donnas consider a meal:

1. Buffet de Parisienne moderne (hot or cold bits of cheese, anchovy this-and-that) with port wine commender, vermouth or dubonnet.

2. Tortue verte claire (green turtle soup) with palette de doré au persenn (little cheese shaws) with amantillado commodore sherry wine and celery, olives and pecans.

3. Extremite de bouef grille au primeurs varies (roast ribs of beef) with bearnaise sauce and a bordeloux (wine and onion segur grand cru, vintage 1927).

4. Salade de printemps melangee 1' huile d'olive (mixed vegetable salad with olive oil).

5. Savarin aux fruits flambe (fruit cake soaked in brandy) with cognac, grand fine, cafe noire (black coffee) and cigars.

the 1929 collapse," he said, "and prudent borrowing is just as essential as prudent lending. It does no good to lend a man or a business money which he will lose. It merely postpones the inevitable readjustment of his affairs."

Meanwhile, public reaction to Mr. Roosevelt's recovery proposals was beginning to make itself felt in letters to senators and representatives, although many members, recalling the recent deluge of communications on the reorganization bill, reported their mail was not extraordinarily heavy.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho), who said he would vote for relief but questioned the advisability of a large pump-priming appropriation, declared all his mail was against renewed spending.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), advocate of earmarking public works funds for irrigation, reclamation and other specific types of projects, said he had received no mail on the subject.

House members will start work on the relief and public works phases of the program tomorrow when Harry Hopkins, works progress administrator, testifies before the appropriations committee.

The committee is expected to appropriate within a few days a bill appropriating $1,250,000,000 for relief from July 1 to February 1, 1939, $450,000,000 for public works grants, and authority for $1,000,000,000 of public works loans.

While the total authorization for public works thus would be $1,450,000,000, Mr. Roosevelt has assured congress that he contemplates using only $1,000,000,000.

The treasury, interested in improving the credit situation, abolished its old "inactive gold account" because of the deterioration of its $1,182,000,000 in gold.

Secretary Morgenthau said, however, he and his aides were considering partial sterilization of any future influx of foreign gold. If that is done, he explained, the foreign gold may be accumulated in the treasury's general fund or in the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

Judge Graess to Speak at Father And Son Banquet

Church Activities in Lull Following Busy Easter Season

Appleton churches are experiencing a lull in activities this week following the busy season of Holy Week and Easter. With but few exceptions, routine meetings of church circles and other organizations are the only events on the calendar for the week.

Judge Henry Graess of Green Bay will be the guest speaker at the father and son banquet this evening at Fellowship hall of First English Lutheran church. Ladies Aid society will serve the dinner to married men of the congregation and their sons or boys "adopted" for the occasion. Two services were held on Easter morning at the church, a sunrise service at 6 o'clock and the regular festival service at 10:30 at which the Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor, preached on "Death Resurrection."

Final meetings are being held by some of the circles of First Baptist church today and Wednesday. The church school cabinet will meet Wednesday night at the church. The Rev. R. H. Spangler, pastor, preached a sermon Sunday morning on "The Message of Easter."

Recognition Council

The Rev. John W. Wilson, pastor-at-large for Congregational churches in Wisconsin, will represent First Congregational church at a recognition council for the Rev. Harold James, new pastor of Union Congregational church, Green Bay, Friday night. Mrs. Wilson will accompany him. Next Sunday the Rev. Mr. Wilson will preach at Pine River. Last Thursday he attended a fellowship committee meeting of the Wisconsin Council of Churches in Milwaukee.

At First Congregational church Easter morning, the Rev. John B. Hanna, pastor, spoke on "Immortal Life." In the evening a dramatic worship was held at Elk hall, the main event of the program being a play entitled "The Half of My Goods" directed by Mrs. Lawrence Burley. Members of the Pilgrim Fellowship and D. E. E. club took part.

"Easter and the Hereafter" was the subject of the sermon given Easter Sunday morning at Zion Lutheran church by the Rev. Theodor Marx. Services also were held Monday evening at Emmanuel Evangelical church Sunday morning, the Rev. G. H. Blum spoke on the theme, "Make it As Sure As You Can." Early in the morning City-Wide Young People's council held a sunrise service at which Dr. Harry C. Culver, pastor of First Methodist church, preached "The Tomb in a Garden."

Dr. Culver's Easter sermon at his own church Sunday morning was entitled "The Tomb in a Garden." Sunday night an Easter pageant, "The Dawning," was presented under the direction of Mrs. Culver.

At Trinity English Lutheran church last Sunday morning the Rev. D. E. Bossmann, pastor, spoke on the theme "The Resurrection."

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist. The following passage is taken from the Bible: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God. Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good."

Presbytery Meeting

The Rev. Robert K. Bell, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, is at Stevens Point today attending a presbytery meeting. Deacons will meet Friday night. Last Sunday morning the Rev. Mr. Bell preached "The Resurrection" and the following service on "There is No Death."

At St. Matthew Lutheran church last Sunday morning the male choir of Northwestern college, Watertown, sang at the sunrise service. At the sunrise service the Rev. Philip Froehlich, pastor, spoke on "Rolling Away the Stone." St. Paul Lutheran church had a sunrise service also when the Rev. F. M. Brandt preached on "The Stone is Rolled Away." At the English festival service he spoke on "The Dawn of Faith," and the Rev. T. J. Sauer preached at the German service. Easter Monday services were held Monday morning with Pastor Sauer preaching.

Government Acts to End Bus-Street Car Strike

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—The federal government moved today in an effort to end a three-day old strike of street car and motor bus operators that left Ohio's capital transportation-crippled and brought dust-coated vehicles back to use.

Stepping in after a conference called by Mayor Myron C. Gessman failed to bring from union and utility leaders an agreement to resume service, then arbitrator, United States Conciliator John L. Connor said he would call a meeting.

The strike began last Saturday midnight after the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company refused to grant demands from the Carmen's union for wage increases and a closed shop.

LaFollette Will Start Series of Speeches Tonight

Plans to Deliver Four Addresses Over 12 Wisconsin Stations

Madison—(AP)—Governor Philip F. LaFollette, in a series of radio addresses starting tonight, will submit the political conclusions he has reached after private consultation with hundreds of Progressives, Farmer-Laborites and advocates of a national third party for 1940.

He will deliver four speeches, on consecutive nights over a chain of 12 Wisconsin stations and has indicated he will disclose next Friday what course he will take in state and national politics. He has the choice of heading the Progressive ticket as a fourth term candidate for governor, seeking election to the United States senate or retiring to private life.

State Counsel

His close associates say there is little chance he will adopt the latter course unless he does so to work privately for a realignment of national parties into two distinct groups—conservatives and liberals.

Two months ago Governor LaFollette, who has been exploring the field of economics, assumed the role of an interviewer and announced he would summon the rank and file of his own party to Madison and place his political future in their hands by agreeing to do what they thought best.

Progressive county committee men, labor leaders, farmers and businessmen, assembled in small groups, have been daily luncheon guests in the executive offices. They discussed unemployment and how to alleviate it, expressed views on the Democratic party, the Republican party and finally, the advisability and means of forming a new national liberal party.

New Party Advocates from Other States

New party advocates from other states, notably, Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota were invited to some of the meetings, all of which were held behind closed doors.

On several occasions the governor left Madison to talk to men in other states, who could not come to Wisconsin.

Details of the conferences have never been disclosed and the governor was unwilling to discuss in advance even the subjects of his radio talks except to say they will deal with politics of the past, present and future.

Pershing Train Stops in Chicago on Trip East

Chicago—(AP)—General John J. Pershing, who a short time ago was near death, passed through Chicago today enroute to the wedding of his son in New York.

Railroad officials and Major General Hugh A. Drum, commander of the army Sixth Corps area, were the only persons allowed aboard the 77-year-old warrior's private car as it was switched for the trip eastward.

General Drum said he found General Pershing "first rate," and that they discussed personal topics during the brief visit. He said the general was up and dressed and appeared to have enjoyed the trip.

Recession, 1938 Election Barring Way to Permanent Solution of Rail Problem

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington—If you can't make head or tail of that railroad crisis the other day, console yourself.

Some of the world's ablest financiers and the cream of railroad genius have been trying to solve one railroad crisis after another for more than a hundred years.

It's a wonder the railroads are still with us.

They have competed with each other ruthlessly; they have been hit by competition from buses, automobiles, trucks, airplanes, pipelines and electric power lines.

They have been in seven financial panics since 1837, with investors bearing the brunt each time.

They have borne regulation—good, bad and indifferent—from 43 states and the federal government.

Through the years, taxes and labor costs have soared; today the railroads are paying annually $240,000,000 in taxes, $2,000,000,000 in wages.

Why They Survived

The railroads have survived and held their place as a basic industry, still as important as its recent rival, the automobile, for these reasons:

1. The American public needed rapid transportation to develop this young and amazingly rich nation. The railroads were the answer.

2. Railroad inventive genius constantly figured out ways to cut costs, increase safety and comfort. The first steel rails cost $28 a ton. The Bessemer steel process had brought rails to $28 a ton by 1914. The Westinghouse air brake brought trains under scientific control for the first time. Block signals reduced accidents. Pullman cars changed night travel from nightmare to comfort.

3. Railroad workers and management produced the genius and organization to operate the largest railroad network on the earth with speed and efficiency.

Three ways have been proposed to save the railroads. There are arguments against all three.

1. Voluntary consolidation, with government supervision over all transportation.

Consolidation would eliminate the waste of duplicate lines and labor costs, and keep buses, planes, etc., in fair competitive positions.

But who will pay off the investments in scrapped railroads? With few takers now, where are the railroads to find new investors to finance mergers? How about the communities that would be cut off from railroad connections? What are you going to do with the thousands of workers who would have to be discharged? And what if the railroads just won't consolidate?

2. Consolidation under government compulsion.

Here you have all the difficulties brought up in plan No. 1, and the added barrier of the Constitution, which says you can't deprive a man—meaning also a corporation—of his or its property without due process of law. An act of congress is not necessarily due process—at least not until the whole fight would be thrashed out in the courts for several years.

3. Government ownership.

The railroads represent an investment, according to government figures, of some $25,000,000,000. The people and corporations who now have their money in railroads would have to be paid if the government took them over. Part of this payment and the railroad debts as well would have to become a public debt, and the national budget is already carrying a depression burden.

Then, too, government ownership has never been a long-term paying investment in any country. The federal government sank something like a billion dollars into its operation of the railroad in this country during the World War.

But Crisis Continues

Yes, the railroad crisis is still with us, and will be the next time you pick up a paper. But meanwhile, congress will have to find a temporary solution, or else the railroads will face the wringer in the midst of a recession. That probably means government loans to buy equipment and pay bills—for the time being.

Then, when economic skies are a little clearer and the 1938 Congressional elections are out of the way, the government may tackle the railroad crisis in earnest.

Fisher Body and Buick Plants are Closed at Flint

Flint, Mich.—(AP)—For the second time in as many days Fisher Body plant No. 1 and the assembly line of the Buick Motor car plant were closed today when the United Automobile Workers of America renewed their dues collecting drive at the body company gates.

About 3,700 workers of the Fisher plant and 1,500 Buick assembly line workers were sent home. The Buick management said 6,000 additional workers would be out of work if the Fisher plant did not resume body production within two days.

Police estimated today's dues-collecting picket line at the Fisher plant at approximately 1,200. A small detail of police was on hand. All workers who did not possess union credentials were turned back at the gates.

None Injured

A number of fights occurred, but no one was injured seriously. One automobile loaded with workers tried to crash the picket line at high speed, but again no one was hurt. A group of men seized the car, its engine still running, pushed it back into the street, tore away the head and tail lights, smashed the windows and cut the tires.

Police Lieutenant Louis Ricker and a patrolman who attempted to escort a worker's car through the plant gates, were pulled from the running board. They were warned: "Don't try to do any climbing around here."

Union workers of the Chevrolet plant here and those of the Buick factory, both General Motors units, are to take a strike vote Wednesday, because of disputes involving seniority rights and grievance adjustments.

8-Day Strike Is Brought To Conclusion at Racine

Racine—(AP)—An eight-day strike of the Racine Building Labor union (A F of L) which put more than 500 craftsmen out of work and halted several building projects, ended last night under a compromise agreement between the strikers and the Racine Contractors' association.

Harry Sorenson, head of the union, and George Nelson, association president, said the wage increase demand of 10 cents an hour had been cut to 5 cents under the agreement.

State Labor Board Slates Hearing on Hatten Union Vote

Petitioners Seek Ballot for 'Certification of Representatives

New London — A hearing to determine whether a secret vote should be held among employees of the Hatten Lumber company to determine the labor group in the majority will be held by the state labor relations board at the city hall at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, according to notice received by petitioners here yesterday from J. K. Kyle, executive secretary of the board.

The notice listed as petitioners, Frank Meating and Albert Oestreich, non-union employees of the lumber company, and the Lumber and Sawmill Workers, Local 2876, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, an American Federation of Labor union. The petition asked for a vote for the "certification of representatives of employees of the Hatten Lumber company".

Last month the independent Hatten Employees association was denied listing as a bonafide labor organization by the labor board and the A. F. of L. local was offered recognition as the sole bargaining agent of employees provided it could submit to the labor board a membership list proving their majority. A payroll list was filed with the board immediately by the Hatten Lumber company.

State Garden Clubs Will Have Conclave in Waupaca

Waupaca — Mrs. C. H. Brennan, president of the Waupaca Garden club, received word Monday from H. J. Ramlow, secretary of the state horticultural society, that the summer state convention of the Federation of Garden Clubs will be held at Waupaca. The tentative dates set by the state federation were July 30 and 31.

The program, while not fully completed, calls for a picnic dinner on Saturday, July 30, and a visit to some local garden. For this the club has chosen the new picnic grounds at Whispering Pines, the Christ Hydegeard estate on Marl lake. Mr. Hydegeard's summer home is rapidly becoming known to tourists throughout the world, more than 4,000 having visited it last year. He believes in sharing the beauties of his lawns and gardens with nature-lovers and this spring has purchased additional land adjoining his property where he has erected picnic tables, an open fire-place and other facilities.

On Saturday evening the program calls for a dinner which is to be followed later by a campfire. The club has decided that no better spot than the camp-site at South park can be found for this purpose.

Religious services will be held on Sunday, according to plans, with a local clergyman in charge and an outside speaker. On Sunday afternoon the visitors will take boat trips around the lakes and visit local gardens.

Several hundred persons are expected to be guests of the Garden Club for this summer meeting.

H. J. Ramlow, secretary of the state horticultural society, will be the guest of the Iola Garden club, May 3, at which time the Waupaca Garden club have been invited to attend.

BEAUTY SEES BEAUTY IN NEW TIRE

When tire engineers perfected the new Dual 8 tire that has just gone into production, in General Tire plants, they built into it the same principles that distinguish the General Dual 10 tire, introduced two years ago. The new tire, somewhat lighter than the Dual 10, is intended for use on popular-priced cars. It has the same multi-vented tread, which squirms into a serpentine shape when brakes are applied, forming a squeegee action that wipes wet surfaces dry for the tire to cling to. Miss Mary Elizabeth Donmoyer, of Cuyahoga Falls, a General Tire girl, is shown above with one of the new tires.

These new tires are on display at:

Question Is Just Where This 'Moderation' Begins

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Am I nuts or did I hear little Joe Goebbels speaking the other night in that portion of the fireside chat where Mr. Roosevelt said: "Every patriotic citizen must say to himself or herself that immoderate statement, appeals to prejudice and the creation of unkindness are offenses not against an individual or individuals, but offenses against the whole population of the United States . . . self restraint implies restraint by articulate public opinion, trained to distinguish fact from falsehood, trained to believe that bitterness is never a useful instrument in public affairs."

Mr. Goebbels is the nazi minister of propaganda and public enlightenment who prevents immoderate statements, appeals to prejudices and the creation of unkindness in Germany except by Hitler, Julius Streicher, himself and other privileged members of the administration, and justifies this suppression on the ground of patriotism and national unity. In our country in the last few years the most influential appeals of prejudice in the general clamor raised by an excited and confused people have come from the man who now condemns all this and from members of his administration, notably Harold Ickes. Such phrases as "economic royalist and 'well fed clubmen' ring out of the past along with the memorable quotation about the rich riding in carriages and drinking wine which was delivered, incidentally, by a miracle of timing on the very same day that dispatches from abroad described an incident on the French Riviera in which a rich young American, riding in a carriage, poured wine from a bottle into the local mayor's plug hat."

Every Man Becomes Judge Of Moderation

Agreed that immoderate and exciting utterances create that bitterness which is never a useful instrument in public affairs, it must be asked now whether this passage was intended to convey an admission of past guilt and a promise of reform as a sedative for others. If so, there is less cause for concern than if Mr. Roosevelt holds himself and Ickes, with his inflammatory remarks about the 60 families, to have been innocent of language which offends against the whole population of the United States. If the president believes that the administration has been innocent of immoderate speech, then that suggests that here, as in Germany and Italy, violent and provocative utterances may be used by the government to create patriotic resentment against legitimate criticism of the government and its personalities.

Personalizing his appeal just as he personalized his implication of immoral and unethical conduct against individuals who had complied with the income tax laws, Mr. Roosevelt puts every citizen on the alert to resent, as an offense against the national security, any written or spoken utterance which that citizen believes to be immoderate. Every man thus becomes his own judge of moderation and excess, which is no new thing, to be sure, but with a mission now to rebuke or representations with which he disagrees.

Nobody can attempt to deny that the last five years have evoked some of the most absurd proposals that ever jangled the air we breathe and fouled up newsprint made from noble trees which deserved a better end.

Discovery Changes Natural Gas Into Liquid Gasoline

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
Dallas—The end of the United States gasoline resources was pushed back 20 per cent or more today by a report to the American Chemical society on the newest ways of changing natural gas into liquid gasoline.

"Re-forming" spelled with a hyphen, is the technical name for this "conversion." The process, in its present "infancy" stage, is capable of adding 20 per cent to the country's gasoline supply. American gasoline production last year was 20 billion gallons.

The 20 per cent estimate is ultra-conservative. Dr. Per K. Frolich, who made the report, refused to estimate, but enthusiastic petroleum chemists have claimed that an immediate 50 per cent addition to gasoline could be made from natural gas. Dr. Frolich is director of the chemical laboratories of the Standard Oil Development company, Elizabeth, N. Y.

Under the latest discoveries about extracting gasoline, Dr. Frolich said natural gas and petroleum rate the same as resources. Gas can be "re-formed" into liquid fuel by the same cracking processes which in the recent past have more than doubled the amount of gasoline from oil.

How long the gas-reinforced gasoline resources will last chemists refused to predict. The outside estimate without using the natural gas, have ranged around 100 years.

Take Entries for WPA Marbles Meet

Registration Blanks for Tourney Distributed to Recreation Leaders

Entry blanks for the annual WPA marbles tournament have been distributed to WPA recreation leaders in Outagamie county and youngsters may register now, according to Hubert J. Piefke, WPA county recreation supervisor.

County tournaments will be held before May 1. District and state finals will follow. Prizes will be awarded and district winners will be given 2-day trip to Milwaukee for the state tournament.

Chester Koss of Appleton won the county title last year and placed second in the district meet at Green Bay. About 1,200 boys were entered in the county tournament last year.

WPA recreation leaders attended a 3-day institute at Green Bay last week. Plans were made for a recreation leaders' camp in Marinette county in June.

Expenses of City Home In March Totaled $355

Expenses at the City home amounted to $355.48 for March, according to a report of F. A. W. Hammond, city relief director. Twenty-three cases were cared for during the month, three new cases being added and three being discharged. Administration costs were $203.92, provisions $59.51, medical care and supplies $23.26 and miscellaneous $5.64.

Students Set Records In School Attendance

Nine students of the High Ridge school, town of Greenville, were perfect in school attendance during the last six weeks, according to Miss Ruth Paschen, teacher. They are Alvin Hankemeier, Earl Pingel, Marilyn Pingel, David and Ruth Hankemeier, Harland Schroeder, Armond Lemke, Ruby Schroeder and Carola Vonne McGinnis.

Mary Kavanaugh, Marjory Krueger, Jerome Van Vleet, Marvin Fox, Thomas Appleton and Ruth Krueger were perfect in attendance at the Sunny Corners school, town of Freedom, according to Miss Ann Toman, teacher.

The housewife who hasn't a telephone has no escape from errands—in disagreeable weather she has to go to the stores. But with a telephone she can stay home when the weather is bad—a telephone call brings the stores to her.

With a telephone she can also keep in touch with friends and relatives, accept and extend invitations; be a part of this busy world. And in an emergency her telephone is always ready to carry her call for aid.

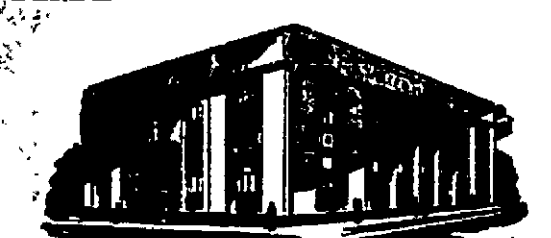

Telephone service does so much and costs so little that you really can't afford to be without it.

CUTTING RAIL WAGES

Only the desperation of the railroads' condition could suggest the move by executives to cut wages.

Such a cut would be wholly out of line with the forced pathway upon which as a nation we are proceeding albeit there are times when difficult conditions swerve us off into the ditch.

America is headed towards inflation. It has taken some definite steps upon that road. It will probably take more for the road is down hill and traveling in that direction is easier than any other way.

Wages are therefore not to go down. They are to go up. Everything else has been going up. Materials, produce, taxes, births and deaths all come higher than formerly.

Inflation however is as hard to manage as the Gulf Stream. It is bulky, ponderous and brainless. It tears ahead at a high rate, then buckles in the center, and is as likely to buck and go backwards for a while as anything else.

Inflation has been invited by the administration. The dollar has not only been cut 40 per cent in buying value abroad but we have poured silver into our monetary system at a price sometimes nearly twice its actual worth on the market.

To cut wages with knowledge of this very recent history and merely because our inflationary process is in one of its buckling moods cannot be justified. It would be singling out railroad men for a seeming reprisal because the railroads have been hurt harder than anyone else inasmuch as they have been a political football for so long.

HERITAGE OF HAITI

Trujillo, Molina, president of the Dominican Republic, which occupies the larger half of our nearby island of Haiti, has declined to be a candidate for reelection.

So important a decision could not be made without 15 printed pages from the pen of the patriotic Molina detailing the reasons that actuate him in his high-minded conclusion. But nowhere in the 15 pages will be found mention of the slaughter of the thousands of Haitians only a few months ago, as sordid and dreadful a massacre as the heavens have ever been called upon to witness.

Throughout the 15 pages Molina covers himself with glory. In spots he sprinkles it on. At other times he rubs it on in a thick mass. And on occasions he is so completely covered in his self-glorification it would be hard to recognize his color.

Like many a man who declines the scepter of empire his hardest proposition is to get away from "the insistent and widespread demand which my fellow citizens have continually made that my candidacy be announced as the only guaranty of continued peace and progress." Yet this statesman has eluded these friends in answer to what he calls "spontaneous and natural results of my ideals as a man and ruler," and this in spite of the asserted fact that the pleas for him to continue as overlord of the Dominicans are "similar at times to the entreaties of the forsaken."

But Molina reminds all the people of fearful face that he has in fact for two years been preparing them for this fearful shock to their wellbeing. Did he not address them but two years ago thus:

"It is not through vanity or false flattery but through the conscientious certainty of my destiny and through a full understanding of my own sacrifice, that I have faith in the just recognition of the fact that the sound and vigorous existence of the nation dates from the day and hour in which the responsibilities of the government were undertaken by me."

And did he not as late as last June also prepare them with this sly hint of his coming retirement voiced in a public address:

"On this solemn occasion of my life and history, before my country and my people, in this glorious precinct and before the rank and file of our brave army, I wish to recommend to the Dominican people that when electing their next public officials to make their decision worthy of the present and avoid returning to the disgraceful conditions of the past, so that they may continue firmly along the path of progress, welfare, prosperity and greatness which they have followed during the past seven years."

But Molina would be treacherous to the great faith and confidence reposed in him were he to step down from such an exalted position without assisting the confused electorate in choosing a successor. He therefore recommends a candidate for the presidency and likewise one for the vice-presidency and says: "These are my candidates and as such I recommend them favorably to my fellow citizens."

But lest the people of his country despair at his loss Molina informs them that "while my heart continues to beat, my country will continue to have my vigilance and my services" and a promise is sincerely hurled to the people:

"My interest in the triumph of the Dominican republic as a nation absolutely free, independent and sovereign, as well as a political entity dedicated to the internal and external cause of progress, culture and human happiness, will not be impaired so long as the light of reason and the warmth of life may inspire and sustain the lofty thoughts of my fervent tribute to the glory of our country and the welfare of humanity."

And yet no word about the thousands of innocent Haitians, men, women and children put to the sword, drowned in the rivers, tossed in the tides, and just because they were in the way. Rage, the rage of the jungle, had so overcome that grand Dominican army that its courage with the sword was sufficient to attack the weak and the feeble who had no arms with which to defend themselves.

Haiti and this Dominican republic are the outposts of ferocity in our Western Hemisphere. But they were not originally established that way.

Columbus landed upon this island on his first trip of discovery. He had already been to several enchanting places including Cuba. But the climate of Haiti, its vegetation, fertility, valleys and mountains, and particularly its kind and child-like people, so affected the great discoverer that he christened it after the Spain that had sent him out.

In his diary of that voyage he tells how the natives "met me with gifts of food and drink" and he was continually charmed and delighted by the inhabitants who were taller and handsomer than those of other islands:

"The men were powerful and apparently harmless; they showed no truculent or suspicious spirit; they had no knowledge of arms; a thousand of them would but face three Christians."

Columbus found them simple and happy, living in a Paradise, devoid of clothing, smiling and unashamed.

High time, indeed, that they should be given clothes to wear, arms to bear, work to do, and thus become civilized as the blood trickled down from many wounds.

In all the diary of Columbus there will not be found the story of a nobler man than Guacanagari, one of the principal kings of the natives of this island. And Columbus paid his kindness with kindness, treated him justly, and his men likewise, but, unfortunately, Columbus, a moral, just and high-minded man, was not typical of the Spanish or other conquerors who subjugated the western world.

It was upon Haiti that the Santa Maria, one of the three caravels of Columbus, went ashore and was wrecked. And it was the native king and his faithful followers who saved its indispensable stores as well as its crew from disaster. Columbus wrote in his diary of this king that "he loved him so much that it was wonderful," and when he established a little colony upon the island he begged the 42 men he left to be as "soft and honest in speech as the natives" and to take nothing from them against their will and especially "to avoid injury or violence to the women by which they would cause scandal and set a bad example and thus show the infamy of the Christians."

But the advent of the white man to Haiti brought over that land a cloud, a dark cloud, and yet a red cloud, a cloud of blood and misfortune.

And when the Spaniards came in greater numbers, they ground the natives under their heels and slew them, lashed and drove them, cruelly, terribly, until the people were well-nigh exterminated. Then they turned to Africa and brought in loads upon loads of blacks. And then they turned to Spain and opened their jails.

And today the population of this island is the result—the black slave mixed with the few remaining natives, plus the devilry of the meanest blood in Spain.

And perhaps that is why we had that massacre a few months ago and have had so many before it, and also why the running sore is sprinkled over with the attempt to hide it with the many vain and empty words of Molina concerning his greatness and his charity, and the humanity, aye, the culture of his people.

SUPERSTITIONS
Everybody laughs at superstitions and everybody has them. Everybody laughs at the other fellow's superstitions and finds excuses for his own. Humanity has suffered long from its inheritance of fear-ridden faith. Education should come to the rescue.

Much has been gained by abolishing the practice of telling children stories of witches and other forces of evil lurking to punish them if they do wrong. But the parent who is terrified at the accidental breaking of a mirror, or who tosses a bit of spilled salt over his shoulder, is not likely to succeed well in warning against superstition.

Probably the teachers in the public schools are best equipped and in best position to undertake the task. At least an attack may be made on those age-old beliefs which at times take the joy out of life. Many an outing has lost its zest because of the sudden remembrance that it was undertaken on Friday. The fun of a party too often is chilled when the discovery is made that 13 sat at a table.

Education should train the mind to be logical. The chief characteristic of superstition is that

LULLABY

The guns are screaming lullabies
To little boys in Spain.
Their mothers turn away from skies
That spill the deadly rain
Of bullets on the plain.
I clasp my baby closer for
The rumblings of this distant war.

A wave of hate engulfs the earth,
But in this room no sound
Disturbs my blue-eyed baby's mirth.
No cannon shakes the ground.
Peace lingers all around.
I sing my mother's song to him:
With sleep his laughing eyes grow dim.

I hold my baby closer still
Because the guns release
Their smoke upon a distant hill.
I pray the bombs may cease,
And the soft twilight peace
That falls upon our still white room
May spread across the wide world's gloom.

Personal Health Talks

QUININE AGAINST CRI

Recent inadvertent admissions of the N. Y. State Medical society and the American Medical Association (quoted here recently) make me feel much more optimistic about getting cri into the next edition of Webster. The more or less official spokesmen for both organizations blurted out, at last, that "a cold is never really just a cold," and that's what I've been shouting about for years. Since it is nothing of the sort, why call it "cold"? I say call it cri (kree) until you or your doctor can find out what it is. When you call it "cri" you frankly acknowledge you don't know yet just what it is, but you assume it is one or another of the Common Respiratory Infections (CRI) and so you give every one fair warning to beware of your conversational spray.

Whatever it proves to be, there is one remedy which more than any other, has enjoyed approval by physicians throughout the world for generations, and that is quinine. Quinine is both a prophylactic and a remedy, and it seems to have special efficacy against the well-known Pneumococcus, the germ chiefly responsible for pneumonia but often the main factor of tonsillitis, quinsy, acute sinusitis, acute bronchitis, acute laryngitis, even acute coryza or pharyngitis.

As a prophylactic or protective against the cri (which, of course, includes all of the specific ailments just mentioned, as well as measles, scarlet fever, meningitis, infantile paralysis, whooping cough, diphtheria, influenza, perhaps chicken pox and smallpox) — you never know in the early stage which of these vicious infections your alleged "cold" may be—the most generally accepted plan is to take one grain of quinine three times daily throughout the season.

As a remedy for the attack, the dose is three to four grains of quinine every four hours, for adults; half the amount, or less, for young children.

Formerly I thought it advisable to combine quinine with salicylate and caffeine, in tablet or capsule, for use as a remedy for the attack or cri, but after all the salicylate is added only for the relief of intense headache and it is not desirable to repeat the dose of salicylate if the ache or pain does not persist. So, I now pump for straight quinine, as here described. Plain pills or tablets of quinine sulphate, or if the more soluble (and expensive) quinine bi-sulphate is preferred it is just as good; or if quinine in powder form is put into capsules it is just as good.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Please Give Me the name and address of a store where I can buy wheat germ meal. I have tried everywhere around here and they don't have it. (Northern Wisconsin).

Answer—Health food stores have it. Some large drug stores have it. If you can find a mill perhaps the miller will be willing to catch out a pound or two for you. You know—a flour mill—that stuff they make from wheat.

Carbon Tetrachloride
Have found carbon tetrachloride as effective as your gasoline remedy for "athletic foot." Gasoline is dangerous because of rapid evaporation and the risk of flaming. Carbon tetrachloride is practically non-inflammable (used in fire extinguishers) and is as good a solvent for dry cleaning. (Mrs. M. N.)

Answer—Thank you. Our readers will soon tell us whether it is as effective as plain gasoline to soak the affected skin for a minute daily.

Your Birthday

"TAURUS"

If April 20 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a. m.; from 1:15 to 3:15 p. m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a. m.; from 5:15 to 7:15 p. m., and from 9:15 to 11:15 p. m.

If April 20 is your birth anniversary, TAURUS is your Zodiacal sign. You ought to have sufficient perseverance to enable you to overcome everything. Pluck, combined with plenty of backbone, will let you come triumphantly through fire and water. Nothing can hold you down if you make up your mind to be "game to the last." You might have to control an impulse to be stubborn. You are liable to hold on to your personal ideas too tenaciously.

You most likely are artistic, so you should have a deep sense of appreciation for good music, acting and all that reflects beauty. You are apt to take a deep interest in financial matters, and be well-posted on current events and might have a decided bearing on market conditions. You may be lucky in acquiring money or property through unexpected sources, such as by inheritance or through someone's generosity. You must live an active life to keep physically fit. Taurian birth stones are the emerald and mass agate. Friday is an auspicious day for you to transact important business or start anything. Yellow, green, navy blue and pink should be your favorite colors. The gold-enrod, daisy, violet and cowslip are among your natural affinities.

If a woman and April 20 is your birthday, you ought to have quiet, peaceful surroundings, for noises might irritate you. You ought to be happier in a small town or in the country than in a large city. You are apt to be very liberal in your religious views, and decidedly enthusiastic and outspoken regarding your political ideas. As a florist, artist, musician, actress, publicity or purchasing agent, author or sales agent your financial returns should be gratifying. The man you marry is likely to be fully capable of making you thoroughly happy, and able to live up to your ideas of a perfect husband.

The child born on April 20, requires cheerful companions and an environment free of gloom or depressing influences. Self-control, particularly regarding indulging in sweetmeats and favorite dishes, must be taught this child at a very early age. Ambition should spur this youngster into making strenuous efforts both in school and later on when it is engaged in making a living or striving for social recognition.

If a man and April 20 is your natal day, you probably have a remarkable amount of latent energy. You are perhaps very cautious and inclined to be thrifty. As a lawyer, botanist, agriculturalist, mining engineer, electrician, chemist, writer, painter, musician or salesman you should do well financially. SUCCESSFUL PEOPLE BORN ON April 20:

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York — Hendrik Willem Van Loon, geographer, historian, and chronicler of the arts, is expecting a dinner guest.

His wife greets you at the door. "Mr. Van Loon will be down in a moment," she says. She pronounces it "Van Loan."

You enter. She leaves you to go upstairs for a reconnaissance. She returns and reports: "He is dressing."

You wait. From the windows of their home you see rolling Connecticut countryside and the waters of Greenwich Cove, an inlet of Long Island sound.

A guest descends and announces: "He is shaving."

You say, "Thank you." You let your eyes wander about the walls where repose landscapes in watercolor painted by a Dutch friend of Mr. Van Loon.

Another guest descends the stairs. As an after thought, he says: "He is looking for a collar button." You wait.

A fishing boat is putting out into the bay. Some boys in a shallop are playing around one of the docks. They have lost an oar and are trying to get back to shore.

A dachshund waddles down the stairs. He probably would like to say: "He is combing his hair"; instead takes cognizance of the room, submits to a friendly ear-scratching, and collapses on a rug.

Mrs. Van Loon goes up stairs for another reconnaissance. She comes back down and announces: "He is tying his tie."

The fishing boat is a wee speck on the edge of the bay.

The boys in the shallop have succeeded in recapturing the oar. Suddenly the dachshund starts up. The guests throw up their heads.

You hear massive footsteps. The stairs creak. A ponderous figure, like a moving boulder, enters the room.

It is Van Loon.

It is not polite to ask a man how much he weighs, but you easily ascertain that he is six feet, two-and-one-half inches tall.

Under smoothly combed hair and a wide brow, big brown eyes peer out over glasses. Not through them. His movements are slow; his voice growly. He is a very big man.

He is also a monopolist, taking charge of the conversation and filling the air with a staccato of quips, jokes, pertinent observations.

For a while no one can talk. His wife, whom he calls "Jimmy," looks pained. She tells him: "But those jokes are so old; I heard them from my grandfather."

What his answer to this would have been will never be known. For at that moment dinner was announced. And dinner, as I pointed out in the opening paragraph, was why we were all there.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — Don't come crying around a few years from now and say you weren't told. You are now being told—in words of Senator Ashurst of Arizona:

"Taxes will be, to say the least, moderately heavy during the lifetime of all persons now in existence. Taxes may be reduced only by reducing expenditures. The remedy for heavy taxes is somewhat within the hands of the taxpayers."

But I do not entirely despair. There are in this world some laws that may not be repealed, such as the law of the survival of the fittest, the law of supply and demand, the law of compensation, and the law of reaction. Even if Congress should refuse to grant relief from excessive taxes, the law of reactions would ultimately do its perfect work.

As a rapidly running river will create obstructions for itself, likewise an era of prodigal expenditures will be followed by economy to the point of parsimony.

As I said last autumn in my addresses to various civic organizations, you are wise in getting money from Uncle Sam's treasury while the getting is good; for under the law of reactions, this prodigal era in due time will be followed by a regime that will make Calvin Coolidge look like a spendthrift. (Laughter.)

We are unable to report any progress whatever on the bill of Senator Johnson of Colorado to make all holidays fall on Monday. The idea, of course, was to make longer week ends. Part of the trouble is that Senator Johnson wrote in the bill a proviso that "whenever Thanksgiving Day occurs on an odd-numbered day, Monday, it shall be skipped over so as to have it celebrated on the nearest Monday. It was grand fun asking the Coloradoan how often Thanksgiving fell on Monday.

It is nice, also, to be able to report that the interests of your Congressmen are being looked after by the Washington city commissioners. New traffic regulations recently issued, one of which was to provide parking spaces for Congressmen's cars along the curb near the National theatre, the capital's only "legitimate."

In recommending the change, the traffic director said: "These spaces are needed to accommodate members of Congress and governmental officials while visiting government establishments in that area on official business."

A most diligent search by this reporter has failed to disclose a single government establishment in that area. A block and a half away, on Pennsylvania avenue, are skads of government buildings.

Remember when you sent that new boy after a left-handed monkeywrench? Well, the boys in the Senate document room have an equally good test for new employees there.

They start the lads hunting for a copy of the pension bill for the widow of the unknown soldier.

THE CONSTITUTION

Roosevelt Holds Up Revision of Tax Legislation

Controls House Members Of Joint Conference Committee, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Not long ago, President Roosevelt issued a public statement denying that he had the qualifications to become a "successful dictator" and the explanation was accepted as meaning, of course, in a European sense. But the developments of the last few days indicate that a dictator in the American sense, that is strictly within the letter of the constitution, is possible through the presidential office and that it can affect the economic welfare of the country to a marked degree.

Thus, for instance, the president has undertaken to deprive the American people of tax revision legislation this year by the simple device of compelling the conference committee to stay in deadlock. Mr. Roosevelt has control of the house members of the joint conference committee, which, as is the custom, seeks to iron out differences between the house and senate. He does not control the senate members of the conference.

The chief items in dispute relate to the penalty tax on thrift and savings, which has been one of the major causes of the present depression and which Mr. Roosevelt refuses to allow to be eliminated from the tax laws. He thinks that the house bill, which changes the rates somewhat, should remain and that the principle of taxing savings and thrift should be retained.

Senate's Stand
The senate, on the other hand, wants to wipe out the penalty tax on thrift and give American business a chance to function. Mr. Roosevelt exercises some sort of powerful influence over the house members of the conference because they refuse to permit the matter to be submitted to a vote on the house of representatives.

Again and again, the senate members of the conference committee have suggested that the house members take the subject back to the membership of the house of representatives for a vote, but to no avail. The senate passed its own bill by an overwhelming vote and the senate conferees are united to a man, Democrats and Republicans, in favor of eliminating the penalty tax on thrift.

As a rule, when a deadlock like this occurs, there is a delay and then an attempt at compromise. But, usually, too, members of the house and senate feel that they can exercise their independent judgment without pressure from the executive. In the present instance, there has been no formal notification that the president would veto the bill if it did not contain the house provisions which he wants.

Certainly, the conference is entitled to formal word on the president's position if he is to exercise pressure at this stage of the proceedings, for it will be recalled that he did not indicate any such course when the measure was before the senate. A president has a right, of course, to indicate what legislation he might veto, but is under no obligation to do so. Likewise, there is, on the other hand, no justification for his threatening secretly to use the veto power. As matters stand, today, by controlling the house members and persuading them not to take the matter back to the house, a dead-senate conferees and is in a position to get his way through the vote and influence of a man who has just been awarded a high federal office.

Will Benefit Jobless
The pending senate tax bill has been regarded as one of the important steps toward reemployment. Its passage has been awaited ever since last autumn, when nation-wide sentiment for tax revision began to crystallize. Many people now out of jobs will be benefitted if congress assumes a position of fairness toward the development and expansion of business. To cause the proposed tax revision to fall through deadlock of the conference committee means that the present law, with its vicious tax provisions, will stay on the statute books.

It is true Mr. Roosevelt could veto the bill, and then two-thirds would be required in both houses to override his veto. But this is an election year and two-thirds of the members of both houses would rather record themselves as being in favor of measures that help instead of retard recovery. What is important, however, is that Mr. Roosevelt, at the moment, is preventing the matter from coming to a vote in the house and he is doing it by undue control over the house conference committee, a situation which only an alert public opinion can possibly correct.

Supply, Demand of Farm Hands About Equal in This Area

Conditions in Appleton Vicinity Better Than in Nation as a Whole

Farm employment in this area is in a healthier condition than in the nation as a whole, according to facts released by the United States bureau of agricultural economics and those observed by F. R. Gehrke, manager of the Wisconsin State Employment Service office here.

Throughout the nation, there are 13 jobless farm hands looking for work to every hundred who can get work, the bureau has reported. Gehrke said yesterday that in this vicinity, the supply and demand are about equal. Wages in this vicinity average $35 a month with board, about $4 higher than the average throughout the country.

"We have been able so far this spring to keep the supply and demand of experienced farm workers just about even," Gehrke said. "Although the recession in business has meant that many factory workers are thrown on the labor market, farmers should realize that these men cannot be classed as experienced farm hands."

The supply of farm labor in the state of Wisconsin is 98 per cent normal, while the demand is only 97 per cent normal, making the percentage of supply to demand about 113.

Throughout the nation the supply of farm labor is 93 per cent and the

Why didn't somebody TELL me?

Within the next twelve months, some 300,000 motorists are going to buy cars at or about the price of a LaSalle—and still not get a LaSalle.

As a matter of fact, you can pay more for certain models of eleven other cars than it costs to get a new LaSalle V-8.

Many of these, we are convinced, will do this because they do not appreciate how little a LaSalle costs. They assume that LaSalle's price is high—because its quality and reputation are so high. But this isn't true!

The concert, which will start at 8:30, will also bring Marie Mansfield, youthful Canadian harpist, before an Appleton audience.

In writing of the "Unfinished Symphony," Charles O'Connell has this to say:

"The 'Unfinished Symphony' dates from 1822, in the latter part of which year it was started by Schubert. It was destined never to be completed and to lie, ignored or forgotten, until 1865. To call it the 'Unfinished Symphony' is, in a sense, to apply a very misleading name to it. It is, as a symphony in conventional form, incomplete; for there are but two movements instead of the usual four. In this sense only is it 'unfinished.' But in a larger sense, it is utterly perfect in finish. It leaves nothing unsaid. It explores the most mysterious regions of the human soul and heart. In language of inexpressible beauty it communicates from composer to hearer an intensity of passionate emotion, a degree of spiritual exaltation, a complete satisfying and wholly expressive message.

"Schubert never heard this symphony. His work on it was not, however, interrupted by death for he lived several years after having laid it aside, convinced, perhaps (in spite of his sketches for a third movement) that there was nothing to add to it. It is amazing to realize that all the vast wealth of new and distinctly original tone colors, melodies and style in the 'Unfinished' were conceived wholly in the imagination of the composer; his external senses never experienced them! Consider, then their perfection, their beauty, their completely satisfying expressiveness, their utter rightness and finality—and you can never think of this deathless music as 'unfinished.'"

Improvement League Protests Beer Ban in Appleton Parks

A resolution protesting the park board's ban on beer in Appleton parks was passed by members of the Sixth Ward Improvement league last night, according to Elmer R. Honkamp.

The protest, which was mailed to the park board today, was signed by Honkamp, Harold Finger and Kurt Koletzke.

"Following is the resolution: 'Resolved: We, the members of the Sixth Ward Improvement league, wish to express to the park board our disapproval of their action to prohibit the consumption or distribution of beer in the parks of the city of Appleton.'

"Beer with an alcoholic content of 3.2 per cent, has been construed as non-intoxicating by the supreme court and is considered generally as such. If consumed in tremendous quantities, food is injurious. Beer is temperance and the use of beer discourages the use of intoxicants. Those who preach temperance should not advocate prohibition.

"We consider beer beneficial and not in the class of liquor. Prohibit the consumption and distribution of hard liquors in your parks, but do not force the citizens of Appleton who go to the picnics in mid-summer to do without a cool glass of beer, if they desire. The action of the board in this matter has been hasty and ill advised. We demand you permit the people of the city of Appleton to enjoy Erb park, free from nuisance laws."

Cheese Industry Asks Additional Grading Officials

Strive to Raise Standard of American Cheese Output in State

Madison — (P) — Representatives of the Wisconsin cheese industry asked the state department of agriculture and markets today for additional grading inspectors to raise the standard of the state's American cheese output.

More than 200 farmers, cheese manufacturers, dealers distributors and others attended a meeting called by acting State Director Ralph Ammon to receive suggestions for betterment of the industry.

Earl Whiting, president of the Wisconsin Cheesemakers' association, advocated hiring of six to ten more inspectors to enforce state regulations. He expressed dissatisfaction with the existing grading system and favored a general tightening of all regulations.

H. G. Davis of Plymouth, president of the Plymouth Cheese Exchange, supported Whiting's request, adding that he did not believe the burden of improving the quality of cheese should be placed upon the industry itself.

Backs Proposal

L. E. Kopitzke of Marion, president of the Northeastern Wisconsin Cheesemakers' association, declared expenditure of state funds for more inspectors was not unreasonable in view of other government costs, and considering the industry is the largest in Wisconsin.

Although a majority agreed further state inspection is necessary, Ammon interrupted the meeting to say the state could not afford a sufficient number of grades, and that the industry itself must undertake the lead in complying with regulations.

"Either the cheese must come up to the standards required by the state, or the state brand will be withdrawn," Ammon warned.

Favor Change of Name
Considerable discussion arose over changing the name of the second grade cheese, "standard," to some other name. Several delegates contended the name was the same as that used by other states in which butterfat content was much lower than required here, and that it worked an injustice on Wisconsin manufacturers. Others claimed the

SCHUMMER FUNERAL SERVICE

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD

Madison—Although they seem unconcerned about it, members of the LaFollette administration are leaving themselves open to what may be very effective campaign attacks by delaying the execution of a legislative mandate for civil service in the beverage tax division at the capitol.

Last summer the state legislature, apparently with reluctance, passed a bill extending the civil service requirements to the 100 odd employees of Sol Levitan's liquor tax collection department. Sol himself was considerably less than enthusiastic at the prospect of the removal of the fa- vorites he had appointed to about half the jobs in the office, and admitted what he could do to give those favorites advantages in the examinations.

The legislature snubbed him, however, and ordered tests for all his employees within 60 days after passage of the law. Today consider- ably more than 60 days have passed almost a year in fact, and Sol's ap- pointees are still on the job, while those who qualified in the exami- nations have not yet been told when to come to work.

Since that time, too, the division has been removed from Sol's hands and given to the tax commission.

In fairness to the bureau of per- sons it may be mentioned that some of the delay was caused by the fact that there were 10,000 pa- pers to grade. But grading has long since been finished.

FIRESIDE CHATS
The "fireside chat" idea is con- siderable. Tonight, and for three succeed- ing nights, Governor LaFollette will talk to Wisconsin voters on the air over a statewide hook-up.

Considerable mystery is attached to the contents of the broadcasts, mystery which the governor seems determined to accentuate.

Last week the executive office called in the capitol correspondents for a "press conference." The con- ference consisted of a new state- ment that the governor would make four broadcasts.

"What will they be about?" the governor was asked. "The past present and future."
"Will they be campaign speech- es?"
"No."
"Will they be political talks?"
"Yes."

"Will listeners be able to tell whether you are going to run for governor, for senator or whether you are going to stay home this year?"
"Listen to them and find out."

ALFONSI RETIREMENT
Paul R. Alfonsi, the aggressive young man from Iron county, ap- peared at the statehouse a few days ago with the news that he has given up his political aspirations in favor of what he hopes will be a lucrative law practice in the iron mine country in the Lake Superior area.

Alfonsi, speaker of the assembly for two terms, and a member—one of the youngest—for three, will get a law degree the hard way—through home study—this June.

Just a few weeks ago he was cre- ating no little excitement in the Progressive camp with the an- nouncement that he would be a candidate for the party nomination for United States senator. At other times his friends were spreading the word that he would run for congress in the far northern dis- trict, opposing Congressman Gehr- man.

Alfonsi brought also some obser- vations on the Wisconsin political picture which were probably not pleasant to the ear of capitol lead- ers of his party. He believes, for example, that at least half a dozen of the Progressive assemblymen are slated for involuntary retire- ment this fall, which means that the administration would lose its slippery lower house majority in the 1939 session.

Legislative coalition of the Dem- ocrats and Republicans will be the cause, he believes.

Alfonsi will be one of few law- yers these days who are getting law degrees without law school study. He spent one term at the university, earned credits between terms of assembly gavel-wield- ing by studying in a law office in his home town and at home.

TYPICAL PENSIONER

For those who may have won- dered about the type of person whom the state's old age assistance system is aiding to the extent of about $750,000 each month, a new analysis of the present old age pen- sion case load will be enlightening. According to a study just com- pleted by the state pension depart- ment for the federal social securi- ty board, the average person ac- cepted for aid in the state is about 70 years old, native born, and with- out other income.

He was not a recipient of other public aid during the month pre- vious to acceptance for old age as- sistance. He is living with rela- tives, none of whom was receiving public aid when he was enrolled in the pension system. He gets $19 a month, is in fairly good physical condition, is either married or wid- owed, and is going to receive old age assistance until he dies.

The highest monthly grant paid anywhere in Wisconsin to date was $30, the legal maximum. The average has been much lower since the pension system was inaugurated, and the lowest to date was $3.00.

PUBLICITY REFORM
Improvement in the hit and miss public relations activities of the state government is open of the avowed objectives of a new state office which is being set up this week—capitol information direc- tor. Head of the office is Curtis Fuller, who was chosen last week.

Fuller's first task will be the re- placement of the ponderous, and largely useless reports published by dozens of state departments at great expense every year or bi- ennium by up to date information in bulletin form each month. In- dicative of the costliness of the present system is the plan of the ad- ministration to pay Fuller's salary, $3,000 a year to start, out of the savings, and his office force be- sides.

Some persons at the capitol also feel that Fuller's energies in future years may also be devoted to a renovation of the state's most ex- pensive published product, the Wisconsin Blue Book, nominally sold but generally distributed free. Except for election statistics, the 700 page volume as now published is of little value, consisting for the most part of indifferent articles on Wisconsin and puffs by department heads for their departments.

ODDS AND ENDS
Herman Runge of Sheboygan and George Greeley of Oshkosh are the most frequently mentioned candi- dates for attorney general and state treasurer on the Republican ticket this year. Runge has been a can-

Upward Movement Of Steel Buying Spending Itself

Little Evidence Appears Of Continued Forward Movement

Upward movement of steel buy- ing in March seems to have spent itself, and while the April rate promises to equal the previous for- ward movement, says Steel.

Miscellaneous industries are ex- panding slowly but their require- ments are not sufficient to lend much support. Galvanized sheets are most active in flat-rolled prod- ucts and tin plate is holding up well, production being close to 60 per cent. Sheets for stovemaking are being taken at a steady rate but buying for refrigerators is declin- ing. Agricultural implement mak- ers are operating at 70 to 75 per cent with indications of about two months activity before the seasonal lull.

Railroads are taking stock of the situation and considerable buying of rails is still to be done, even with tonnages held to the mini- mum.

Tonnages Below
While building as a whole is slow and aggregate tonnages are much below last year public work is bringing some important tonnages to fabricators. An award of sheet piling by the United States engineer at Los Angeles totals 2257 tons, the reclamation bureau has placed 5000 tons of shapes for Cou- lee dam, 1575 tons has been award- ed for the Snake river bridge 1500 tons for a bridge at Fort Worth, Tex., and 2600 tons for college buildings for the state of Pennsylv- ania. Pending items include 2000 tons for the United States building and 1000 tons for the Belgian build- ing at the New York world's fair, 4000 tons for a bridge over the Mis- sissippi river at Rock Island, Ill., and 2550 tons for a prison in Penn- sylvania, part of which is rein- forcing bars. Standard Oil Co. of Ohio projects a pipe line of 180 miles, which is estimated to require more than 10,000 tons of pipe.

Cargo Ships
Cargo ships for the maritime com- mission are slow in reaching awards. The 16 vessels now pend- ing will require about 50,000 tons of hull steel and 6000 tons of other steel. Four requiring 12,000 tons have been tentatively awarded, pending completion of financing by the builder. Bids will be taken May 3 and 17. Former bids on part of this fleet were rejected as too far above the commission's esti- mates. Shipyard with contracts for tankers awarded earlier in the year are releasing tonnage as con- struction proceeds.

Gradual advance in automobile production brought 1.6 total in last week to 62,021 units, an in- crease of 1046 over the preceding week. General Motors made 23,620, compared with 22,430 the preceding week. Chrysler 13,775 compared with 14,075. Ford 16,135 compared with 15,885 and others 8491 com- pared with 8365.

Shipments of finished steel in March by United States Steel Corp. subsidiaries were 572,199 tons, an increase of 205 per cent over Feb- ruary but a decline of 59.4 per cent from a year ago. For first quarter shipments were 1,565,244 tons, a decrease of 57.2 per cent from first quarter of 1937.

Register Declines
Declines of 25 to 50 cents in steel- making grades of scrap were regis- tered in practically all centers. In the East this is attributed to export demand drying up but in general it results from buying by melters on offers of prices below the market. Dealers have accepted these offers in order to move stock. The re- sult of this general dropping of prices is a loss of 46 cents in the steelmaking scrap composite, car- rying it to $12.17, the lowest since August, 1935. No sense of strength are apparent and further lowering is expected. The iron and steel composite dropped 3 cents, to $38.59, because of scrap weakness. The finished steel composite is un- changed at $61.70.

Social Security Payments Total $18,000 in March

474 Lump-Sum Claims Certified in Wisconsin by Board

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—Totaling $18,892.51 paid out during March in Wiscon- sin, 474 lump-sum claims for bene- fits under the old-age insurance program of the social security act were certified during the month, the average payment being $39.86, according to the announcement of the social security board.

The number of claims certified in Wisconsin now has reached the total of 2,891, involving total pay- ments of $87,117.51, according to the figure made public.

For the country as a whole, it is stated, payments amounting to $3,425,234.44 to pay 114,927 claims have been certified since the federal old- age insurance plan became effec- tive. March payments totaled $836,867.67.

Claims were certified during March at the rate of 810 per work- ing day, the board says.

More than 56 per cent of the number certified during March—12,760—were filed by close relatives or representatives of the estates of wage earners who had died.

"The payments made to such claimants, as well as to those who had filed claims because they had reached the age of 65, represented 31 per cent of the total wages re- ceived from covered employment as defined in the social security act."

Highest claim for $349.50 was filed in the state of New York by a man who had reached the age of 65 and who had worked simultaneously for sev- eral employers, according to the an- nouncement.

Maybe we have told America too convinc- ingly about the sensational extra-value fea- tures built into the new 1938 Dodge trucks. Perhaps people simply can't believe that Dodge can give so much extra for your money. Perhaps it's hard to believe Dodge trucks can include dozens of money-saving features and still be priced with the lowest. Yet it's the truth!

Dodge has genuine hydraulic brakes and any truck driver will tell you they are the best. Dodge has four piston rings instead of the usual three. Dodge has roller bearing universals, exhaust valve seat inserts, Arnold steel springs and axle shafts. Anywhere you look—in the cab, under the hood, from front bumper to rear axle—you will see feature after feature, each one of which obviously indicates "extra-quality" construction.

Test a Dodge... Be the Judge!
Possibly you, too, have thought of Dodge trucks as being "worth more"... "higher priced." Today, in most cases, there is only a few dollars difference in the prices of the low-priced trucks. And Dodge is priced with the lowest!

TALK OF THE TOWN SALE

WICKER CLOTHING HAMPER. Can be used as seat. Opens from top. $1.19 Value ..... 78c

A "talk of the town" sale for the "talk of the town" store — a sale that climaxes the most sensational rise of any retail furniture store in the history of the Fox River Valley! Everyone knows WHY the Railroad Salvage Furniture Company is Appleton's most outstanding merchandising success, and the reason is simple: WE HAVE SAVED THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS FOR OUR CUSTOMERS EVER SINCE WE FIRST OPENED FOR BUSINESS.

Things like this JUST DON'T "HAPPEN." They aren't the result of luck or accident. Our tremendous strides, for example, were made possible by the unusual combination of wide experience in the methods and management of successful chain stores AND the ability of an independent, locally-owned store to know what its customers wanted and how to save them even more money!

For example, H. E. Jenkins, owner of this store, was for years outstanding in the Montgomery Ward organization. He was sent to Appleton to open the new Ward store here. After successfully launching Ward's Appleton headquarters, he was sent to Little Rock, Ark., to open another big store for Ward's. All this time, however, the idea that was to later result in Appleton's leading underselling furniture store had been in his mind. His experience in Appleton led him to believe that HERE was the logical place to introduce this new type of store that would practically revolutionize furniture buying. He started "small" in a building outside the city limits in 1935 — and the rest is history.

Meanwhile, other furniture specialists with wide experience in successful chain stores, also saw the possibilities seen by Mr. Jenkins. Today they are associated with him in his unique enterprise. Together, the entire staff invites YOU to come to the store during the "Talk of the Town" Sale and see for yourself what has happened to the furniture business in the past few years! You'll like the store, the merchandise — and you'll find it hard to believe that prices could be so low!

Cubs May Have Trouble if Diz and Tex Begin Feudin'

BY SID FEDER
(Pitching-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)
NEW YORK—(AP)—Maybe the Cubs' brain trust is going to have a new worry on its hands if that old Dean-Carleton feud pops up again. . . . Couple of years ago, when the Cards traded Carleton to the Cubs, everybody said "twas done because Diz didn't get along with Tex. . . . Now they're back together again. . . . And, as Dick Freeman of the House-Chronicle wires: "Needed—One peacemaker."

Today's the day the mortality rate on office boys' grandmothers jumps sky high. . . . And they'll all have to take the day off to see the old ladies—hit homers at their favorite ball parks. . . . So Lefty Gomez, who didn't get the call to pitch the opener, has a chance to win the first one for the Yanks. . . . And Connie Mack has a chance to back up his hitting with something in the way of

ABC Winners Get Purse of $1,000 And Set New Mark

Birk Bros. Brewing Co. Snags Cash, Diamond Medals for 3,234 Count

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Birk Brothers Brewing company five-man squad became the official winner of the 1938 American Bowling congress team championship today.

The five veterans on the Chicago team posted their winning score on April 5 but it wasn't recognized until the last of their 4,956 rivals for the major prize finished bowling early this morning.

Not only did the Birk team win the championship but it also established a new record of 3,234 for the A. B. C. margin of victory, 137 pins—the biggest recorded in the bowling class.

24,785 Bowlers Competed
An alley operator from Moline, Ill., a youngster from Jackson, Mich., and a pair of Indianapolis abstract writers were ready to take their places alongside the Birk team as champions of the bowling world.

At 7 p. m. tonight the thunder of 47 days and 47 nights will cease and the names at the top of the A. B. C. board will be declared champions of the four divisions. A total of 24,785 of the nation's best keggers competed for top honors on the coliseum alleys.

Knute Anderson of Moline appeared virtually certain of winning the singles event. The Moline alley proprietor took first place on March 11 and 12, a 23-year-old from Jackson, Mich., Don Beatty, scored 700 in his team event, 640 in the doubles and 620 in singles.

When his grand total of 1,978 was posted at the top of the all-events ratings, it was freely predicted he would not be one-two-three at the finish. Beatty is still first by 19 pins after one of the longest holds on first place in A. B. C. history.

Don Johnson and Fannie Snyder, who work in an Indianapolis abstract office, lead the two-man event with 1,337, posted April 16.

Both all-events and doubles figures are below the average of recent years.

Chicago—The final standings in the five-man event of the 38th American Bowling congress, and top prize money follow:

Birk Bros. Brewing Co., Chicago. $234, $1,000 and diamond medals; Vogel's Windy City League, Forest Park, Ill., $697, $500; Soper Brothers, Chicago, Ill., $366, $350; Isaac Baker and Son, Erie, Pa., $307, $300; Colonial Paper Co., Steubenville, Ohio, $300, $250; Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer, Chicago, $303, $250; Mystery Men, St. Louis, $303, $250; Pabst Blue Ribbon, Milwaukee, $303, $250; Trotter's Sanitarium, Kansas City, Mo., $303, $250; Calvert Distilling, St. Louis, $303, $250; Kunzmann-Besser, Milwaukee, $302, $250; Lang's Beer and Ale, Buffalo, 2020, $535; Bill Rand's, Chicago, 3014, $490; Unicest Corporation, Toledo, Ohio, 3012, $480; Burlington Route Zephyrs, Chicago, 3010, $440; Buonomo All Stars, Rochester, N. Y., 3000, $420.

TWELFTH IN SINGLES
Chicago—(AP)—Bud Resler of Green Bay, Wis., who was the only contestant in the American Bowling congress to put together better than a median score yesterday took twelfth position in singles standings with a count of 698.

Until Resler posted his total the best individual count for the day was only 649 by Eldon Becker, also of Green Bay.

Neenah Duo Takes State Elks Lead

Joe Muench and Earl Haase Roll 1,256 in Doubles Event

Two Rivers, Wis.—(AP)—Neenah and Menasha boys went on a strike spree in the Wisconsin Elks association tournament last night and moved into top positions in the doubles, and second place in the team event.

Joe Muench and Earl Haase scored 1,256 to take the doubles lead. D. Wassenberg and D. Verwey moved into second place with 1,244. Mel-Johnson and Feller took eighth with 1,159.

The Colonial Wonder Bars rolled 2,841 for second place in the team competition. The Rippi Grocers went into fourth position with 2,794 and the Gilbert Papers into eighth with 2,761.

F. Fahrback scored 628 for fifth place in the singles.

pitching—which the A's didn't show yesterday. . . . And 14 other clubs have a chance to catch up. . . . Yanks can't get over the stuff young Jim Bagby showed in his first major league start for the Red Sox.

Frank Thomas please note: They're tabbing Sam Fox at Ohio State as one of the best pass receivers since Larry Kelley. . . . And it seems he passed up Alabama for the Buckeyes. . . . As reported here two weeks ago, two-ton Tony Galento is first in line to follow the circus into Madison Square Garden. . . . But when last heard from, the Newark night-stick was suspended in New York for training on beer and spaghetti. . . . So it's up to the athletic commissioners to oblige. . . . Don't look now, but Schoolboy Rowe's arm is going lots better since the Tigers came north. . . .

They thrilled over their break-out home run, too, as they noted that jolting Joe DiMaggio, the Yanks' missing slugger, still was mad at owner Jacob Ruppert because he wouldn't pay him $40,000 for the season. H-m-m-m. Just as they suspected: the Yanks are going to miss the lad.

Only five hits they got in six innings off Jim Bagby, Jr., a 21-year-old kid starting his first major league game, and their prized new second baseman, Joe Gordon, whiffed twice. And the mighty Red Ruffing, who won 20 games last season, was slammed from the box.

The Washington Senators, victorious of the Philadelphia Athletics, 12 to 8, in yesterday's Bob-tailed opening program, had reason to be proud of the swap that got them first baseman Zeke Bonura from Chicago in exchange for Joe Kuehl. The big fellow smacked three hits, including a mighty home run into the left center stands with two on base.

Rowe In Lineup
Today's remaining American league openers brought up a few more points of prime interest. The matter of the big trade between Chicago and Detroit, involving a couple of Walkers, Gee and Dixie, Vernon Kennedy and others was due to be threshed out when the Tigers and White Sox clashed. And Mickey Cochrane had the comforting assurance that Schoolboy Rowe was ready to give his all for Detroit after being laid up most of last season with a sore arm. Rowe, voluntarily retired since last summer, applied for reinstatement yesterday.

Then, what rumors that DiMaggio had signed or was about to sign his Yankee contract were floating around, the St. Louis Browns stirred up a bit more excitement by offering to buy him for $150,000. They didn't get any further with that one than Joe has with his hold-out.

There was every prospect that with a break in the weather, upward of 200,000 would witness today's contests, which included a Patriot's day doubleheader between the Yankees and Red Sox at Boston.

Except for the Cardinals and Philadelphia, all National league clubs stronger all along the line. Brooklyn, Boston and Cincinnati all look capable of giving the favorites a fight. A winning team at Brooklyn, the craziest baseball town in either league, would mean plenty of money in the coffers of every rival team.

The camper going into the deep-cold wilderness and beyond the point of automobile transportation will use the folding sheet-roof tent stove of the woodsman. This will heat his tent, and upon it he can cook his meals satisfactorily. Its economical use of fuel is much more economical than that of the open fire, but it requires good, dry wood chopped and split to proper size. Green or wet wood will not burn in it satisfactorily until a good bed of live coals has been built up.

Cuts Fire Hazard
The most important argument, however, in favor of the portable stove, where circumstances admit of its use, is its absolute freedom from the danger of igniting devastating forest or grass fires. The annual loss in the United States as the result of such fires amounts to sixty-three million dollars. In addition to this monetary loss is an incalculable loss of wild life directly chargeable to forest fires; and every forest fire leaves behind it a country blackened, dead and desolate, and regions are beautiful and inspiring are for many years robbed of their charm and attractiveness. The origin of nearly all of these destructive forest fires may be traced to camp fires left burning, or not properly extinguished, when abandoned. An apparently extinguished fire may contain a smoldering ember.

This fanned by the wind may spring to life, and blown into combustible material ignite a fire that will quickly be beyond human control.

There are many styles of camp stoves from which a selection may be made, ranging from this folding type to the larger and more elaborate ones designed for the cabin camp or the trailer. These larger ones may be had with built-in oven if desired.

The type commonly in use, however, and most practical for all-around ordinary camping purposes, is the compact folding one. The three-burner size varies in length from 26 to 28 inches, depending upon the make, and in width from 11 to 13 inches, the larger ones providing about 360 square inches of cooking surface, upon which an entire meal may be cooked at the same time. These compact little stoves have a wind shield for open air use, and a folding standard that occupies no more room, when folded, than a camera tripod.

Or Charcoal Grills
Outfitters also offer folding charcoal grills that serve the purpose excellently under conditions where the gasoline type may not be practical. They are especially desirable for broiling, though they are equally efficient for frying and boiling. They average in size and weight approximately the same as the gasoline stove. They are much slower than the gasoline type, and require the transportation of charcoal for fuel. These are by no means as desirable or satis-

American League Pilots Beam as Yanks Drop Game

Young Red Sox Pitcher Sets Champions Back On Their Heels

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Staff Writer
THE sun-tanned countenances of seven American league managers were wreathed in new hope today as the major league baseball campaign began on all fronts. Only a general rain that swished up and down the Atlantic seaboard threatened to dampen the day's festivities.

The pilots of the junior circuit beamed in their morning mirrors as they thought of the 8 to 4 licking of the champion New York Yankees absorbed in their opener against the Boston Red Sox yesterday, and hoped that the trouble with Manager Joe McCarthy's gang was nothing trivial.

DiMaggio Unsinged
They thrilled over their break-out home run, too, as they noted that jolting Joe DiMaggio, the Yanks' missing slugger, still was mad at owner Jacob Ruppert because he wouldn't pay him $40,000 for the season. H-m-m-m. Just as they suspected: the Yanks are going to miss the lad.

The three-burner size varies in length from 26 to 28 inches, depending upon the make, and in width from 11 to 13 inches, the larger ones providing about 360 square inches of cooking surface, upon which an entire meal may be cooked at the same time. These compact little stoves have a wind shield for open air use, and a folding standard that occupies no more room, when folded, than a camera tripod.

Or Charcoal Grills
Outfitters also offer folding charcoal grills that serve the purpose excellently under conditions where the gasoline type may not be practical. They are especially desirable for broiling, though they are equally efficient for frying and boiling. They average in size and weight approximately the same as the gasoline stove. They are much slower than the gasoline type, and require the transportation of charcoal for fuel. These are by no means as desirable or satisfactory for general camping purposes as the gasoline stove.

The camper going into the deep-cold wilderness and beyond the point of automobile transportation will use the folding sheet-roof tent stove of the woodsman. This will heat his tent, and upon it he can cook his meals satisfactorily. Its economical use of fuel is much more economical than that of the open fire, but it requires good, dry wood chopped and split to proper size. Green or wet wood will not

'Exiting' Important In Defense

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Defense against no trump contracts usually requires a technique far different from that used against suit bids. At no trump, assuming that declarer has no long and fairly solid suit upon which to depend for the bulk of his tricks, the best defense usually is negative. By this I mean that the defenders should strive merely to retain their position in the lead, rather than to lead off. Leads often are expensive. Except when the time factor is the crucial point, the defenders should so maneuver as to make declarer lead and open up new suits. In a sense, therefore, "exiting" becomes an important part of the average defense at no trump.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Double
Redouble	2 clubs	Pass	3 no trump
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

As may be seen, East's opening bid was almost psychic, but, nevertheless, not to be criticized under the circumstances. For one thing, he was third hand and, for another, he himself was not vulnerable against vulnerable opponents. A spade bid hardly could do harm and might stop the opponents from going too far. Also, it might do service as indicating a good opening lead. South was pretty sure that East was "psyching" and deliberately "pressed" in bidding three no trump over two clubs. West, having redoubled the one spade, could take no further action. He, too, suspected a very weak opening on East's part and did not burn his fingers with a highly optimistic double. Incidentally, it is worthy of note that East's spade bid stopped what might have been a disastrous opening lead, i. e., West, with nothing to guide him, might have led a heart.

As it was, the seven of spades was led. Dummy ducked, East played the queen, and declarer held up the ace. East, without an entry and, therefore, without hope of running the spade suit, shifted to the six of hearts. Declarer tried the double finesse, but the ten lost to West's jack. West returned a spade. East ducked and declarer won with the ten. Two rounds of clubs, ending in dummy, were followed by a heart lead, and again declarer fished, this time losing to West's king.

Now West made a fatal return. Apparently discouraged at the thought that declarer was impregnable in spades and clubs, West attempted to grab diamonds. He led the ace. Exactly what he expected to gain by this lead is hard to say. The fact was that declarer could not have "called" a better return, since it was his only chance, at this stage, of snaring the ninth trick. Perhaps West hoped that East had both the king and queen of diamonds, so that it was not only a foolish hope but an unnecessary one. Declarer had been shown to have no more than five club tricks, two spades, and one heart, the latter because at this point West's 7 and 5 of hearts were equals. (The 9 and 8 had been in dummy and East had shown the 6). Thus it was the simplest thing in the world for West to exit with the seven of hearts and wait for declarer to break the diamond suit.

Old Gardener Says:

White flowers are in high favor at the present time. That is probably one of the reasons the new Shasta daisies have been accepted with such wide acclaim. Last year the English variety called Esther Reed proved itself in many American gardens. It is fully double and pure white, showing no center. It grows 18 inches high and flowers continuously throughout the summer. Admiral Byrd, a Shasta daisy of American origin, has two or three rows of twisted and curled white petals about a rich golden yellow center. The flowers are borne on stiff stems two and a half to three feet tall, and the hardiness of these plants is unquestioned. Like Esther, it blooms throughout the summer. They also have this in common — they are excellent cut flowers.

When ironing soft collars, iron right side first, then the wrong side. Always press toward the center, to avoid wrinkling.

Beige Wool

This coat is made of butterscotch beige wool and finished with a white pique neck piping. The brown straw toque is rimmed with yellow daisies.

My Neighbor Says—

Minced parsley and onion added to cream soups improve their flavor. Dried celery leaves may also be used to flavor soups.

When fitting a new washer to a faucet first turn off the water, then unscrew the top of the faucet known as the "stuffing box" which carries the handle and the main stem. At the extreme lower end of the stem is a small circular metal plate, covered by a soft piece of leather or rubber the same shape and size. This is the washer which must be replaced.

Plant snapdragons under glass and transplant out of doors in May to get an abundance of blossoms.

In order to make the most of a vegetable garden, it is desirable to draw a plan now, indicating the rows to be devoted to each kind of vegetable and remembering that certain kinds, which mature quickly, can be followed by other crops, thus extending the season. Early peas can be followed by celery, early beets by New Zealand spinach and early spinach by late beets.

To restore the color to a faded rug, add to a bowl of hot water a few drops of ammonia and sponge the rug, treating a small portion at a time. Dry thoroughly by rubbing with a clean duster.

2 Neenah Aldermen Retire as Council Adjourns Sine Die

J. D. Heigl, James J. Andersen to Take Office At Meeting Tonight

Neenah—The city council last night at the city hall adjourned sine die following a brief meeting. The new council will hold its first meeting at 7:30 tonight with two new members being seated, Aldermen J. D. Heigl from the Fourth ward and James J. Andersen from the Fifth ward.

The retiring members last night were William Schmidt from the Fifth ward who didn't seek reelection this spring and George MacDonald from the Fourth ward who was defeated by 12 votes by Alderman Heigl.

Alderman MacDonald, author of the proposed bicycle licensing ordinance which received considerable attention last fall, attempted to revive the plan, but the council agreed that action on the proposed ordinance should be postponed until the new council takes office. The proposal was tabled last fall with the intention of the council to consider it in the spring.

Claim Disallowed Upon the motion of Alderman Schmidt, the council disallowed a claim by the Earl Litho Printing company for a rebate on personal property tax. In a communication to the council, the printing company officials said they believed that the assessment of $900 was too high and that because it was a recently organized concern, they requested a rebate. John W. O'Leary, city attorney, said it was illegal for the council to grant a rebate and that if the printing company officials considered the assessment too high, they should have appeared before the board of review last summer to enter their complaint.

Two petitions submitted to the council were referred to committees for consideration. One was for a street light on the corner of Reed and Cecil streets, and the other was for water mains and sanitary sewers on Hanson street from Congress street to S. Park avenue. The council granted a Class B beverage license to the People's Fruit and Vegetable Market upon the recommendation of the committee on police, fire and health.

Finance Report Alderman Emil S. Harder, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the city incurred 84 accounts this month amounting to $4,337.78. The Neenah Police Protective association was appropriated $20 to send a delegation to the Wisconsin convention May 16 and 17. At the organization meeting tonight the following officers will be up for reappointment: City Clerk H. S. Zemlock, City Engineer A. G. Prunuske, City Attorney John W. O'Leary, Martin Wacholz, street commissioner, and Dr. I. E. Ozanne city physician.

The council will elect a president to succeed Alderman Schmidt, and Mayor Edwin A. Kahala will appoint the following council committees: finance, streets, sidewalks and bridges, ordinances and printing, parks and public buildings, poor, police, fire and health, utilities, celebrations, traffic and safety, and engineering and building inspection. Members of the following boards and committees whose terms expire also will be appointed: board of health, city plan commission, waterworks commission, athletic board and fire and police commission.

Neenah Net Squad To Meet Oshkosh

Indians Have Won Twenty-Seven Consecutive Matches

Neenah—The highly touted Oshkosh High school tennis squad which Saturday afternoon won its twenty-seventh consecutive match defeating East Green Bay, 4 to 0, will oppose Neenah High school net team at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the Neenah courts.

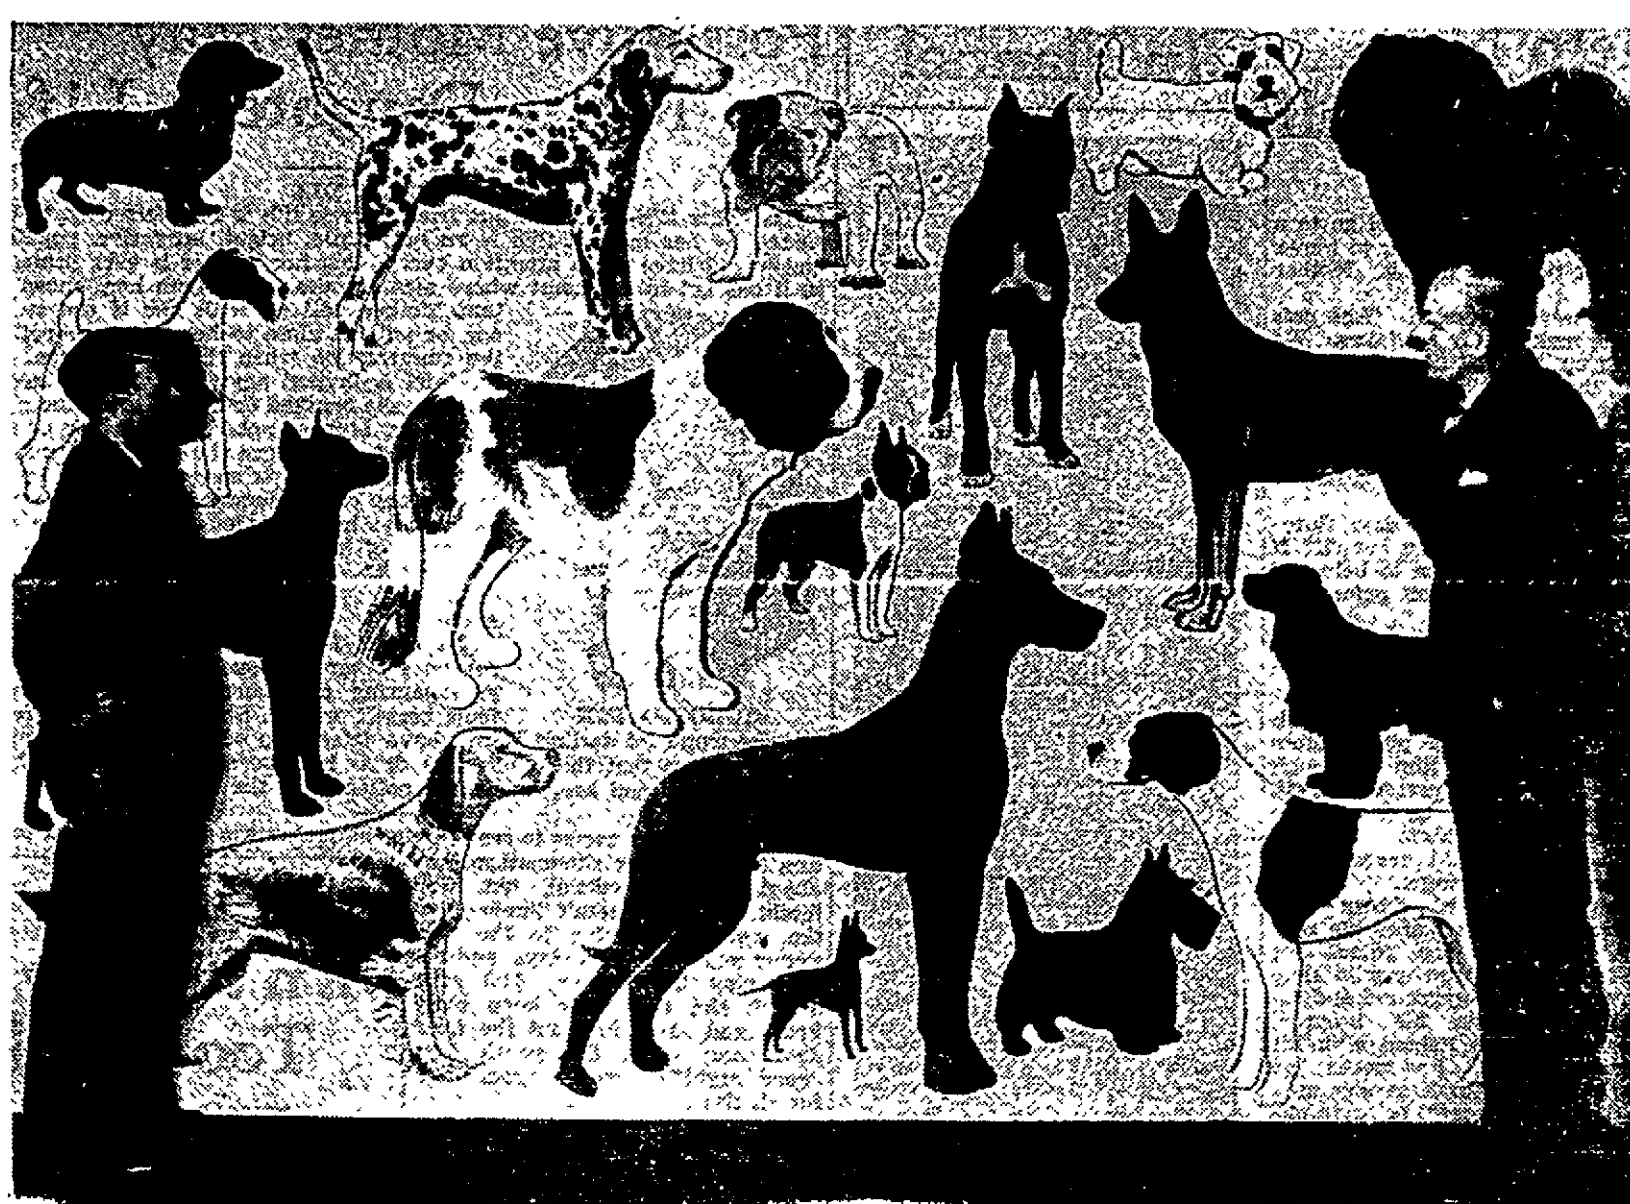

Stiff competition is expected by both teams, for Neenah has gotten off to a good start this season, winning three matches. The Rockets beat St. Mary, Oshkosh, in the opener, trounced Menasha, 6 to 1, and blanketed Fond du Lac, 7 to 0, Saturday morning.

Members of Neenah's varsity squad, selected over the weekend by Coach Ivan Williams, who probably will see action this afternoon, are Captain Harold Bunker, Richard Limberg, Alvin Staffeld, Robert Ryan, Donald Ralph, Gregory Smith, Richard Miller, Walter Sellnow, Henry Dupont, William Hammett, Jack Draheim, Harold Dieckhoff, Philip Arpin, Kenneth Redlin and Dudley Young.

One Contagion Case Reported in Menasha

Menasha—One case of chicken pox was the only contagion reported in Menasha during the last week, according to H. O. Haugh, city health officer. There is no scarlet fever present in the city.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent and its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

NEENAH MEN CUT "KENNEL" OF 30 BREEDS OF DOGS OUT OF PLYWOOD

Neenah—Seventeen breeds of dogs are represented in the above picture, all cut out of plywood during the last two years by Frank Fadner, Neenah photographer, right, and Earl Williams, Neenah, left. Fadner will use the canine cut-outs to illustrate a talk on "Breeds and Bloodlines" at a meeting of the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club Thursday evening at the Valley Inn. The two men own a "kennel" of about 30 breeds and plan to continue until the 107 recognized breeds have been added to the collection. The dogs are life size and perfectly proportioned. Illustrations of breed champions were used as models. In the picture reading from the upper left are the following breeds: dachshund, dalmatian (coach dog), English bull, boxer, sealyham, chow chow, wire-haired fox-terrier, doberman pinscher, St. Bernard, Boston terrier, German shepherd, English setter, great dane, toy Manchester, Scottish terrier, English pointer and cocker spaniel.

Open Sluice Gates In Twin City Dams As Fox Level Rises

River Nearly 19 Inches Above Crests of Neenah-Menasha Dams

Neenah—The alarming rise in the water level, caused by weekend rains, resulted in the reopening of sluice gates on the Neenah and Menasha dams. Three sluice gates were opened at Neenah and one at Menasha Monday afternoon in a move to lower the level of Lake Winnebago. Monday's reading at Neenah was 183 inches above the crest of the dam, while the reading at Menasha was 183 inches above the dam's crest. The variation probably was caused by wind action between the readings. Over the weekend the level rose to 194 inches above the dam's crest, only slightly more than two inches below the maximum permitted by the government.

Mayor Wiechering, Oshkosh, Monday was reported to have prepared a protest to the United States war department district office at Milwaukee, requesting the opening of more sluice gates at the Twin Cities.

The water level over weekend was the highest this spring, the previous highest reading being 18 inches on April 7.

Be A Safe Driver

Doudna Deplores Lack of Interest in 'ism' Dangers

Neenah—Charging that the terrible indifference of the American people to the conflict between new 'isms' and democracy is a cause for greater worry than possibilities of a dictatorship here, E. A. Doudna, executive secretary of the normal school board of regents, told members of the Neenah High school and Roosevelt school Parent-Teacher associations, meeting in joint session at the high school last night, that he believed that intelligence and decency, which means spiritual guidance is needed, if democracy is to be saved.

"Unless we take cognizance that it is not political and economic reform alone that is needed, but also a return to a spiritual guidance, a power outside of man alone, we stand to lose all for which we as a nation have struggled the last 150 years," contended Mr. Doudna who quoted H. G. Wells with the statement, "Today it is a race between catastrophe and education and education hasn't a chance," and then declared, "I believe education has a chance but it will take all the faith, all the patience, all the understanding, all the planning in well-defined directions, together with the aid of the home and the church."

Mr. Doudna discussed the study of European schools made by Horace Mann in the 1840's, stating that Mann found the schools in England, chaotic; in Scotland, good and in Prussia, well-equipped, highly organized with a teaching personnel of highly trained men. He found blackboards, slates, maps and atlases, which America did not have at that time. He found that the teachers used few textbooks, that they knew all the answers, but he also found a philosophy of education in which he did not believe; that the government was the people's sovereign, that people had no part in law-making, that they had no right to question the government, that education was the preparation of people to participate in the functions of the government. If there was a war, the people were to fight it and were shot, and if they lived, they were to pay for it.

Dictators Hold Two-Thirds "Look at the world today, if you can stand it," said the speaker. "Two thirds of the world is governed by dictators. No countries outside of Australia, New Zealand and freedom such as we have here. Look at Germany. All that Mann said about Prussian education back in 1844, is true today. They have excellent teachers, excellent recitations, excellent equipment.... to teach the philosophy of Hitler and his Nazi party."

In explaining the hold of Hitler on the people of Germany, Mr. Doudna stated that Hitler, like all dictators had a compelling personality, great powers of an orator, was a great organizer of paracety, worked on the emotions rather than intellect and was utterly ruthless.

"You can't compare education in a democracy with education in a Fascist state," declared Mr. Doudna. "Because in European schools, there are two sets of education, one for the masses and one for the classes. In America, education is for all and young people have the right to develop their intellect as far as they have the capacity for it."

Build Up Hatreds Pointing out that in dictator countries, one of the ideas perpetuated by the dictator is hate of somebody or something, Mr. Doudna stated that Hitler has four hates he builds up, hatred of the Versailles treaty, hatred of communism, hatred of the Jews and hatred of democracy. The hatred of democracy is something which Americans can't understand. Hitler won't learn of democracy is an outgrowth of government, that people can no more govern themselves than an army can lead itself, that democracy only reaps chaos, that obedience and the military system is the only fundamental teaching for the people. In contrast to American's belief that there be inner responsibility of external conduct, the dictator countries teach the reverse. The tragedy of the world today is that two thirds of the children in the world are being educated to believe democracy is outworn, outlived.

"Can we make democracy work here," asked Mr. Doudna. "Will the dictators be right? If we in America can't make it work, we may prove them right."

Briefly discussing a survey made in 1936 of educational methods in Europe, particularly Germany, Mr. Doudna, who was a member of the group who made the survey, stated at one of the conferences which was held with the American educators, a group of English educators, and the German minister of education, a bishop from Oxford asked two pertinent questions: "When are you going to permit German youth to think for itself?" and "How can you have character, ethics and good will with God left out?"

To the first question, the Germans answer, "we don't ask them to think, we tell them what to think." "There was no adequate answer made to the second question but I believe," said Mr. Doudna, "that the latter question is one which America better answer in relation to its own youth if it wishes to save democracy."

Coach Hettinger's Ripon squad was handicapped by the fact that they have only clay courts to practice on and the abundance of rain lately made them unplayable. As a result the Menasha squad had an edge in practice.

The singles match between Fred Yaley and Teufer of Ripon showed some excellent tennis as did the doubles match between Floyd and Yaley of Menasha against Teufer and Bland of Ripon.

In the official matches Menasha lost only one, Fred Yaley being defeated by Teufer (R) 2-6 and 7-9. The Bluejays won the other four singles matches and both doubles. The Menasha squad also lost one of the unofficial matches when Schmitzer (M) was defeated by Peters (R), 6-1, 5-7. Theirs was the only match to go three sets. Bendt (M) defeated Nehle (R), 6-1, 6-0; Machie (M) defeated C. Rupnow (R), 7-5, 6-4, and Robinson (M) defeated Lynch (R), 6-2, 6-2.

Holzman Reports on Madison Conference At Teachers Session

Neenah—Outlining the highlights of the conference on secondary education at Madison last month, John H. Holzman, Neenah High school principal, told high school teachers at a meeting last night at the high school that one of the modern trends in education is a "definite shift in thinking about objectives from terms of subject matter to terms of behavior."

The principal's report consisted mostly of a discussion on curriculum, and he reported that the two things emphasized at the conference were individual instructions and teaching students things which will be most valuable to them after they have left school.

Other trends in secondary education listed by the principal were the curricular development theory on the basis of a democracy and cooperative thinking in which the classroom teacher plays a major role; the increase in making individual pupils the focal point in classroom work; the effort to relate school experience to the community, and an effort to bring about a functional relationship between organization of secondary schools and instructional programs.

The principal also listed four things which teachers should be doing. They are: Learning more about and from the individual pupil; learning more about and from the community; continuously learning more about learning, and discovering ways and means of synchronizing dates and factors in a way that is real for the pupils.

It's Odd But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

Ithaca, N. Y.—Meteorites, the meteors that fall to earth, are messengers of regeneration.

They show, almost beyond doubt, that in all the vast cosmos there are only about 90 chemical elements.

ments, and that those on the farthest sun are no different from those on earth.

Nature everywhere is regimented by these 90 forms of matter. The analysis of meteorites, which indicates there are no unknown elements outside the earth, has been made to the American Chemical Society by Dr. Jacob Papish, head of Cornell university's department of chemistry.

Meteors not only come from the solar system, but also from outer space. They are the only tangible messengers man has of the presence of other worlds. In the meteorites, Dr. Papish reports, the spectroscopic and chemical analysis have shown the great majority of the known chemical elements.

But not one in addition to the 90. Dr. Papish himself was the discoverer of two of the most interesting chemicals in meteorites. These were arsenic and germanium.

Menasha Assessors Begin Evaluating Property for 1939

Menasha—Field work on the assessment of Menasha personal property and real estate for 1939 was started this morning by R. M. Heckner and Joseph Stommel. Menasha's two assessors. The two men will first check on personal property values, completing that work by May 1. Today they started to inventory stocks and supplies of the various business places and factories.

Menasha's assessed valuation for next year will be approximately $500,000 higher than this year when it was $11,263,960, according to the assessor. The increase is due to the fact that all improvements and new construction made during 1935, 1936 and 1937 will be assessed for the first time. Under a state law passed in 1935 to stimulate building activity, building construction made in those years was exempted from taxation. The assessors estimate that approximately 200 new homes will be included on the tax roll for the first time this year. Only the lots were assessed during the last three years.

After May 1 the assessors will start work on the property valuation for the 1939 tax rolls. All construction started before that time must be assessed for 1939 taxation purposes. All assessing as well as entering of records must be completed by the first Monday in August when the board of equalization meets.

THE STORY SO FAR: Loving Oliver marries an outsider, Reuben Oliver, for his money, only to discover that his fortune is lost. But she sticks by her bargain and follows Reuben to a dismal mining town. Twists are born and life is a constant struggle with poverty. Then Reuben loses his job. What Judith has been fighting is inevitable — they must appeal to her grandmother. Into this moment of desperation walks red-headed Cissy Rogers, who is in love with Reuben.

Chapter 25 CISSY INVESTIGATES

Cool as a mermaid, fresh as a mountain breeze, exotic as an orchid Cissy came. Came for a purpose. She slithered through the drowsy afternoon of Casper Street at the wheel of a stream-lined roadster. Her red head was wrapped in a white silk scarf. A long white cigarette holder slanted between her lips. A great diamond twinkled on the hand that carefully man-aged the wheel. From the rumble the end of a small leather trunk protruded. On the seat beside her was a hat box. An overnight bag. A white coat.

From their doorsteps the women of Casper gazed in wide-mouthed curiosity. Cissy returned their stares from cool green eyes and scanned the number of each box-like house. Before number 43 she glided to a soft stop.

"Humph!" She switched off the ignition and surveyed the hopeless patch of moth eaten grass. "Worse than I thought."

Her spirits lightened as she sauntered through the water pipe gate. She had done right to come. Nothing like seeing for yourself and certainly if you wanted a thing you had to come and get it. Cissy wanted one thing. The same thing she had always wanted. No doubt about that.

She shook her half smoked cigarette from its holder, stamped it out on the bumpy little walk. Never in her heart had she really given up Reuben. Some day he would come back or she would bring him back. Now—if things were half as bad as they looked, maybe with a little luck—

Through the screen door that opened into the front room she saw a woman in faded blue linen. A tall man in his shirt sleeves—

"Hello, you two!"

"I'm real!" Cissy laughed. "Don't think I'm a bad dream of something."

"Cissy!" The Olivers called her name in unison though on an entirely different note. Reuben caroled a psalm. Judith chanted a dirge.

Ghost From The Past

To her arrival of a guest at this time could be nothing but an additional misfortune. She particularly resented this guest—a ghost from her past. Resented those cool green eyes seeing her poverty. Her once lucid thought, as on the night when she first saw her, was how to get rid of Cissy quickly.

To Reuben the visitor was as welcome as a ray of sunshine on a gray day. Manlike, he welcomed anything that banished the gloom that encompassed him.

"Cissy—by the Great Horn Spoon, it's 'you in the flesh!'"

"In too much flesh," Cissy confessed. "I've gained eight pounds." She kissed him with a mixture of greediness and restraint and turned to embrace Judith. "You're the original sylph, darling," she complimented. "How do you do it?"

"Hang around for a week or two and you'll find out," Reuben invited. "Slim rations and hard work make an unbeatable combination for reducing."

"As if I didn't know!" Cissy grinned. "I just lack the courage to get down to it."

Reuben surveyed her white crepe ensemble with appreciation. "What are you doing in these parts in that get-up?"

"A nice question when I'm here especially to see you."

"Flattering, but untrue."

"Believe it or not! Can you put me up for the night, Judith?"

Put her up for the night! Judith straightened in the act of picking up Reuben. The twins and

Girl Scouts Make Plans for Banquet

Mother-Daughter Event to Be Held in City Hall At Chilton

Chilton—The regular meeting of the Woman's club was held at the city hall Monday afternoon. At the business meeting, Mrs. R. C. Tesch, girl scout leader, announced that on May 6 the girl scouts would hold a mother-daughter banquet at the city hall, the dinner to be prepared and served by the girls themselves. As the Woman's club is sponsoring the girl scout movement in this city, Mrs. Tesch asked for volunteers from the members, for women to act as mothers at this banquet for those girls whose mothers are unable to attend, and several women volunteered to "mother" a girl at this banquet.

Mrs. C. O. Piper, county chairman for the Red Cross, appealed to the members for old clothing for the needy of the county, at the suggestion of County Nurse Elda Bartels. After the business meeting a short musical program was given, consisting of songs by Mrs. Oscar Schaub, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. R. Reinbold, and saxophone solos by Violet Thiel, accompanied on the piano by Marion Boll. John Egan, of Manitowoc, conservation warden for this district, who was to have given a talk, was unable to appear on account of illness, so a social hour followed. Bridge was played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. R. C. Tesch and Mrs. H. Arps.

Mrs. Dorothy Reinbold, who has been ill at the home of her parents for the last two weeks, returned to Mosinee Monday to resume her duties as teacher of art in the Mosinee public schools.

Mrs. William Rothmann of Chicago spent the weekend at the home of G. M. Morrissey. just missed being a redhead. I think she's going to have a faded topknot like mine.

"It's good luck for a girl to look like her daddy," Cissy bent over the sleeping mites, "Young Ruben."

"Jim Goodloe."

"Oh! Still the only Reuben?"

"One is enough," bitterly.

Following him she noticed that while a new quality had come to Judith an old one had gone from Reuben. He walked without verve, as a man walks when he knows the end of the road is only a blind alley.

"She's broken him," Cissy thought, resentfully. "She's done what I knew she would."

(Copyright, 1938)

Tomorrow: Cissy gets an idea.

She Has Broken Him

Cissy sank limply to a chair that held a bedraggled rag doll. As on the day she had flown to Reuben's place in Maryland she was suddenly sorry she had come here. She should go right away. The sight of Reuben's whimsical face was to Cissy what a cool drink of water is to a parched traveler in the desert.

She noted in Judith an indefinable new quality. Judith ured, thin, untidy was in some mysterious way lovelier than ever—and not actively unhappy. Cissy knew it at a glance. Reuben?

She couldn't trust herself to think about Reuben—not yet. "Show me the offspring I can't wait to see them."

"Reuben will do the honors while I put your room in order," Judith smiled at her guest. "I'm afraid you'll find it warm."

"That doesn't frighten me. I've stewed plenty in my day."

Judith went up the steep box stairs. Cissy followed her host to the narrow strip of back yard, where, under an old canvas swung over four poles the twins, looking like cherubs, slept.

"This substitutes for an oak tree," Reuben waved airily at the sagging canopy, hating it.

"How long have you been an inventive genius?"

"You'd be surprised! Young Judy."
